

Charges Democrats Avoid Any Stand

Kelly Says Late Planning Leader Says McAndrew Is Groping for Issue

In a radio campaign speech last night, Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large, charged the Democratic party with avoiding "a clear-cut stand either for or against anything."

Kelly stressed that in his speech, Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, merely stated issues but took no position on any of them.

"They say they have a political atom bomb, which they intend to drop too late for the Republicans to answer," Kelly said, and added, "Whatever nonsense is being whispered about the city administration is just plain poppycock."

"If the Democrats had any real issue they would have already brought it out in the open and would be shouting about it from the rooftops," he said.

Kelly, who is seeking re-election with Republican Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, said as follows:

For the past two years I have served as your Alderman-at-large. As such, it has been my duty to preside over all sessions of the Common Council held during that time. As a presiding officer, I have been in a very advantageous position to keep myself familiar with all issues. I must, because of my position, listen to all local legislative debates. The pros and cons of every measure proposed are entirely familiar to me. I have heard all the arguments on both sides of every local question, time and time again.

Avoid Clear Cut Stand

What has been the position of the Democratic party on the issues confronting the voters of this city? On all questions, they have vacillated, quibbled and avoided taking a clear-cut stand either for or against anything. They have acted like the strange birds of whom Ripley said: "They neither light nor fly, they simply ploy; on the other hand they claim to be in favor of large wage increases for all city employees, on the other hand they claim to be in favor of reducing taxes. Now, ladies and gentlemen, you simply cannot be in favor of increasing city expenses and at the same time be in favor of reducing taxes. You can be for one or the other, but not for both."

I listened with great interest to the speech of Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic County Chairman, delivered last Tuesday night. It was the opening Democratic speech of this campaign. Everyone expected that in this speech Mr. Plunket would state his party's position on the local issues. Well, what did he do? He simply followed the "party line" of merely stating issues but taking no position on any of them. He raised questions but gave no answers.

In his speech, Mr. Plunket stated that the city was facing "pressing financial problems." He neither defined the problems nor stated how he or his party would solve them if they exist. According to Mr. Plunket, the issues are: "Inadequate salaries that are now being paid to many of our civil service employees; the conditions of our streets; the bonded indebtedness of our city; the possible loss of bus transportation; the continued loss of train service."

He wound up with this sweeping generality, and I again quote Mr. Plunket:

"And scores of other matters which vitally affect the growth and development of this city and the health and welfare of its citizens."

Plunket Didn't Say
Just what these "other matters" are.

Crossing Superintendent Says Digging Plan Ready for Sewer

Excavation is expected to start Monday on the Broadway Crossing project for connecting the Greenkill avenue sewer to the Broadway line. Joseph Thomas, construction superintendent for Lipsett Inc., said today.

It is also planned, he said, to start pouring concrete on the west side of Broadway beyond the railroad bridge by next Wednesday, and on Monday also it is planned to start the north abutment piling for the bridge. He will connect Greenkill and Railroad avenues.

By the end of next week it is planned to build the stone base for the repaving of Thomas street and to complete other work on the west side of the crossing.

Says U. S. Is Ready to Arm Slavs, Once Soviet Allies

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The United States reportedly has agreed to send modern heavy weapons to Communist Yugoslavia, focal point of growing Balkan military tensions.

Officials here said last night that weeks of secret negotiations have resulted in a military supply pact that will be signed formally in Belgrade "within a few days."

Details of the agreement remained undisclosed, but it was understood that by signing a formal military accord—providing for a United States military mission in Yugoslavia—Russia's one-time ally will become eligible for heavy, modern arms including tanks and artillery.

The reported agreement comes three years and four months after Marshal Tito, who as leader of Yugoslavia's Communist guerrillas was one of the international communism's major World War Two military heroes, broke with the Kremlin over policy differences.

Since that break a backdrop of Communist military buildups has been lowered against Yugoslavia on almost every sector of its long frontiers. The country is almost surrounded by Soviet satellites—Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

These states turned against Tito after his break with the Kremlin.

Congress Is Hit By Truman on Its Inflation Setup

President Says Tools Not Good Enough For Effective Program

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Truman said today that "the tools Congress has given us, to curb inflation x x x are not good enough to do the job as it should be done."

But he pledged his administration to do "its best" with the tools at hand.

Mr. Truman's latest attack on the price control law was in a speech prepared for the dedication of a small triangular parkway here to the memory of Samuel Gompers, pioneer American labor leader.

"Scores of special interest have ganged up together for the purpose of securing special short-run advantages for themselves at the expense of all of us," Mr. Truman said. He added:

Cites Capehart Amendment

"These special interests have adopted the principle that price control is all right if it does not require them to absorb a penny more in costs, or forego a penny of profit, no matter how high their profits may be. This is the main idea behind the terrible Capehart amendment, which I tried to have removed from the price control law."

This referred to a provision written into the law to allow certain increases in ceiling prices in proportion to production cost increases since the original price-freeze.

Mr. Truman always refers to the provision as the Capehart amendment, although Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) insists he was only one of several senators sponsoring the measure. The administration failed in efforts to eliminate the provision before Congress adjourned last week.

The parkway, on Massachusetts avenue near the AFL headquarters of the American Federation of Labor (AFL) is to be known as Gompers Square. A statue of the labor leader was unveiled in the square 15 years ago. President Franklin D. Roosevelt made the dedication address then.

Gompers, a one-time cigar maker, headed the AFL almost continuously from its organization in 1881 until he died in 1924.

Dope Trial Off

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—General Sessions Judge Edward J. McCullen yesterday postponed until Monday the trial of two men arrested last August 3 with Irving (Waxey Gordon) Wexler on narcotics charges. Gordon currently is awaiting sentence under a plea of guilty to charges of consuming the illegal sale of narcotics.

Doc Baby-Sitters Fleeced Reported Missing by Wife

Nahant, Mass., Oct. 27 (AP)—A state-wide search was on today for Dr. Albert Covner, from whose home three baby-sitters took $18,000 and went on a New York spending spree last week.

Mrs. Covner told police her husband closed his Lynn office at noon yesterday and failed to return home.

A message asking all state policemen to be on the lookout for Dr. Covner's sedan was put on the teletype system early today after an extensive local search.

The three baby-sitters—Roberta McCauley, 15, Eileen Jeffrey, 17, and Marilyn Curry, 16—were arrested in New York. They admitted taking the money and told police they spent $3,000 on fine clothes and were outwitted out of the remaining $15,000 by three "sharpies."

Police Break Up Melee Started by Plunge Through Line of Pickets

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fist fighting broke out in the New York dock strike today when 200 non-striking longshoremen crashed through a wildcat picket line.

Police quickly quelled the melee, outside Pier 92, where the Cunard liner Britannic was due to dock later today.

The violence came quickly after the strikers rejected an appeal of President Truman to return to work in the interests of national defense.

In another development as the paralyzing strike went into its 13th day, pickets appeared for the first time outside a U. S. Navy supply depot at Bayonne, N. J. Fifteen mounted and 15 foot police on duty outside Pier 92 said they had expected the non-striking workers to skirt the picket line of about 250 men to go to work.

Instead, the non-striking plunged directly at the line and forced their way through amid fighting and arguing while the police rushed in to restore order.

The non-striking, members of the Local 824 of the AFL International Longshoremen's Union, fought a similar battle with pickets Thursday morning.

Ryan Is Boosed

Joseph P. Ryan, ILA president, appeared at the scene shortly after today's brawl and was booed by the pickets but cheered by the men on the pier.

Ryan walked around the picket line and onto the pier, accompanied by a policeman.

"Do you need a police escort, Joe?" one of the pickets taunted.

Ryan has opposed the strike. The strike was initiated by some ILA factions dissatisfied with terms of a recent contract between the union and shipping owners. The union membership had ratified the agreement.

Longshoremen also crossed two picket lines in Staten Island, without violence.

About 350 men chosen in a regular union shape-up crossed a 60-man picket line to work on navy military transport vessels at the army's Staten Island terminal of the New York Port of Embarkation.

Three hundred men had worked at the same terminal yesterday on a provisional civil service basis.

Union sources said the men chose to work through the union shape-up today because in that way they would get Saturday overtime pay not forthcoming under civil service.

Another 25 men, however, signed up under the Provisional Civil Service Plan and crossed through a 20-man picket line to work at the terminal, where three transports and three cargo ships are loading or unloading.

The President stepped into the east coast port dispute last night with an appeal that the wildcat end "at once" in the interest of national defense.

It took the strike committee just 15 minutes to turn down the President's request.

May Invoke T-H Law

Mr. Truman now may invoke the Taft-Hartley Act. He also can call in the Wage Stabilization Board, which is consulted in matters affecting defense.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, Mr. Truman can seek an 80-day injunction to enable a fact-finding board to look into the dispute.

Strike leaders stood on their demands for a new contract as they defied the President with the same stubbornness they challenged their union, shippers, and city and federal mediators.

However, rebel leader John (Gene) Sampson hinted at a possible solution for the President. Sampson said the strike was continuing "as long as the President does not see fit to declare a national emergency."

President Truman's action came at the end of a day that saw the wildcat strike spread to Portland, Me., and Philadelphia. New York and Boston have been strike-bound for days, with more than 100 ships idle.

He acted after the New York Board of Trade appealed to the White House for intervention.

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 27 (AP)—The United Nations today made it "perfectly clear" to the Communists that their proposed Korean armistice buffer zone cannot be considered "any further."

The official UN spokesman said the allied proposal for a line generally along the present battle-front was "not a flat take it or leave it position." The UN is ready to make minor refinements or modifications.

The UN allies have "gained by combat a buffer or cushion that is necessary for protection" of UN troops and they will not give up this hard won ground as the Red offer would force them to do, said Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official UN spokesman.

Subcommittees of the main truce delegations met for three and one-half hours in Panmunjom Saturday without "any tangible progress."

Before them were new Communist and allied cease-fire line proposals.

The allies want to establish the buffer zone mostly in North Korea along the present battle line.

The rejected Communist proposal called for United Nations withdrawals as much as 15 miles, and, Nuckols said, "tend to leave UN forces in an exposed position and therefore exposed to a certain threat."

Nuckols said the UN suggestion was "a realistic one" and added "there is no fat on this proposal that can be trimmed off by compromise."

He said Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, a subcommittee delegate, made it "perfectly clear" that the UN command cannot consider the Red proposal for a cease-fire line "any further."

The subcommittees will meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Saturday EST) in an attempt to solve differences on the actual line of contact between the opposing armies.

Jets Dogfight

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eight Russian-made MIGs were damaged today in a thunderous jet plane dogfight over northwest Korea as they failed to stop an allied bomb strike on bridge and rail lines.

It was the seventh straight day the Communist jets whooshed out of their Manchurian sanctuary to challenge the air might of the United Nations in the Korea War.

On the ground, Communist night assaults in the east and west were repulsed in fierce fighting. In the center of the battle line allied infantrymen slogged forward and secured a key hill mass southeast of Kumsong, battered onetime Communist stronghold.

In the latest air battle allied pilots for the first time in months had an edge in numbers. The 112 F-86s and eight Okinawa based B-29s were challenged by 105 MIGs over Sinanju.

The Fifth Air Force said all jet planes returned to their bases. Far East headquarters in Tokyo announced that one B-29 landed with battle damage at a Korean air base.

Ike's Backers Look To Home State for GOP Endorsement

Supporters Are Checking in All Sections of Country in Race to Beat Taft

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—President drive turned to the general's "home" state today in their first bid for Republican organizational endorsement.

Hugh D. Scott Jr. (R-Pa.), former Republican national chairman, carried to a Garden City, Kan., young Republican district convention a plea for approval of the move to draft the five-star general for the 1952 political role.

Eisenhower backers here said they would be disappointed by anything less than a unanimous endorsement by the convention.

Scott apparently was commissioned to open at the Kansas meeting a campaign to sell Republicans on the idea that Eisenhower is a member of their party and that he is available for the 1952 GOP nomination. There has been doubt among Republicans on both counts.

Supporters here made it clear they intend to preserve the grass roots flavor of their campaign by

Civilian Defense Test Takes Place Today in Schenectady, 'A' Bomb Target

Ulster county volunteer firemen mobilized to aid "bombed out" Schenectady early this morning in this area's most comprehensive test to date of Civil Defense coverage.

Six pumps, an ambulance, wrecker, bus and gasoline tank truck assembled in convoy at the Schenectady entrance to the New York State Thruway at 8:30 a. m., to proceed to Schenectady under direction of Arthur C. Chipp, county coordinator for fire services.

Ulster fire companies who made the upstate trip were Ellenville, Ulster Hose, Highland, the A. H. Wicks Company from Kingston, Esopus, New Paltz.

Others in Convoy

Also in the convoy were an ambulance from New Paltz, a Van Kleec bus from Ellenville and an A. R. Newcombe gasoline tank truck from Kingston.

A lead car for the convoy was provided by Sheriff Cluett Schantz, head of fire and police services under county Civil Defense. With him was Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, of the county fire advisory board.

Directing operations from the county court house was Allan L. Hanstein, county defense director. Sherwood E. Davis, city director,

Russia's Attitude Cuts Civilian Goods for U.S.

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 27 (AP)—A probable worsening of relations with Soviet Russia and heavier strains on the domestic economy were pictured by two top government officials today as the prospect for the months immediately ahead.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace and Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer delivered the double barreled warning at the second session of a three-day conference of Sawyer's 100-member business advisor council.

Pace foresaw international tension getting "closer to the boiling point" as Russia watches the growth of military strength in the United States and its North Atlantic allies.

The pressure will continue to mount, he predicted, until the buildup of military power in the free world reaches such strength as to make any Communist aggression too risky to undertake. It would be impossible to say when that point will be reached, he added.

Both Pace and Sawyer addressed the industrial leaders behind closed doors, but they gave reporters their views informally later.

Sawyer predicted a "substantial but not drastic" cutback in civilian goods manufacture in the three months starting January 1. Later in 1952, he said, the shortages will ease, at least in the steel-using sector of the economy.

Pace said that since Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower assumed military command of the North Atlantic treaty organization nine months ago the progress toward military preparedness in Europe "has exceeded even our highest expectations."

Starts on Government Setup After Attlee Resigns

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Winston Churchill announced today that Anthony Eden would become his foreign minister and leader of the House of Commons.

Churchill also announced that in addition to being prime minister he would keep for himself the vital Defense Ministry.

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Aging Winston Churchill, prime minister of a sharply divided nation, conferred from his bed today with the chief lieutenants he is fitting into a new cabinet.

He was expected to announce the first six or eight key ministers later today.

They must begin at once to size up the serious problems which confront the new administration—the persistent failure of the nation to pay its way in the world trade by which it lives, the Communist threat, and the taunts of defiant segments of a declining empire.

Churchill returned to office last night with a thin majority in the 625-seat House of Commons even though the narrowly-defeated Labor party won more of the popular vote.

Meets Advisers

Special police patrolled the streets outside his home in Hyde Park gate, a short, dead-end street, as Churchill conferred in his bedroom with top advisers, including Sir David Maxwell Fyfe and Oliver Lyttelton. Maxwell Fyfe may become his minister of labor and Lyttelton the chancellor of the exchequer.

Conservative party headquarters indicated Churchill's first announcement on his cabinet would be channeled through 10 Downing Street, official residence of prime ministers.

Besides filling the top jobs, Churchill must also name 50 or 60 other ministers and assistant ministers to help plan and carry out his policies.

Yesterday afternoon, a few hours after the outcome of the voting became certain, Prime Minister Clement Attlee went to King George and resigned. Then the king summoned Churchill to Buckingham Palace and asked him to form a new government.

45-Minute Conference

The weak and ailing monarch, still recuperating from a serious lung operation, kept the doughy, 76-year-old Churchill for 45 minutes to talk over policies and cabinet-making.

Then Churchill went home for dinner and a talk with Anthony Eden, his deputy leader and a man experienced in conducting British foreign policy.

Thus began the new government.

Railroad Says Earnings Won't Permit Raise; to Meet Tuesday

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—The bankrupt Ontario and Western Railway says it can't afford to keep paying a temporary wage increase granted 1,500 employees last spring.

Union sources in Delaware county say a wage conference with the company is to be held here Tuesday.

A spokesman for the railroad yesterday blamed low earnings for the wage situation.

He said a court order allowing a 1½-cent hike for operating employees and nine and one-half cents for non-operating workers expired last month.

Trustees did not ask the order to be extended, the spokesman added, because earnings "do not permit of a continued increase at the moment."

The road, which runs between Weehawken, N. J., and Oswego, N. Y., with branches to Port Jervis and Utica, N. Y., and Scranton, Pa., has been bankrupt since 1937.

County Volunteers Leave To Aid 'Bombed City'

Ike's Backers Look To Home State for GOP Endorsement

Supporters Are Checking in All Sections of Country in Race to Beat Taft

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—President drive turned to the general's "home" state today in their first bid for Republican organizational endorsement.

Hugh D. Scott Jr. (R-Pa.), former Republican national chairman, carried to a Garden City, Kan., young Republican district convention a plea for approval of the move to draft the five-star general for the 1952 political role.

Eisenhower backers here said they would be disappointed by anything less than a unanimous endorsement by the convention.

Scott apparently was commissioned to open at the Kansas meeting a campaign to sell Republicans on the idea that Eisenhower is a member of their party and that he is available for the 1952 GOP nomination. There has been doubt among Republicans on both counts.

Supporters here made it clear they intend to preserve the grass roots flavor of their campaign by (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Civilian Defense Test Takes Place Today in Schenectady, 'A' Bomb Target

Ulster county volunteer firemen mobilized to aid "bombed out" Schenectady early this morning in this area's most comprehensive test to date of Civil Defense coverage.

Six pumpers, an ambulance, wrecker, bus and gasoline tank truck assembled in convoy at the Saugerties entrance to the New York State Thruway at 8:30 a. m. to proceed to Schenectady under direction of Arthur C. Chipp, county coordinator for fire services.

Ulster fire companies who made the upstate trip were Ellenville, Ulster Hose, Highland, the A. H. Wicks Company from Kingston, Esopus, New Paltz.

Also in the convoy were an ambulance from New Paltz, a Van Kleck bus from Ellenville and an A. R. Newcombe gasoline tank truck from Kingston.

A lead car for the convoy was provided by Sheriff Cluett Schantz, head of fire and police services under county Civil Defense. With him was Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, of the county fire advisory board.

Russia's Attitude Cuts Civilian Goods for U.S.

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 27 (AP)—A probable worsening of relations with Soviet Russia and heavier strains on the domestic economy were pictured by two top government officials today as the prospect for the months immediately ahead.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace and Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer delivered the double barreled warning at the second session of a three-day conference of Sawyer's 100-member business advisor council.

Pace foresaw international tension getting "closer to the boiling point" as Russia watches the growth of military strength in the United States and its North Atlantic allies.

The pressure will continue to mount, he predicted, until the buildup of military power in the

Will Name His Key Men Later Today

Prime Minister Faces Task of Appointing 60 Ministers for Planning Policy

Talks With King

Starts on Government Setup After Attlee Resigns

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Winston Churchill announced today that Anthony Eden would become his foreign minister and leader of the House of Commons.

Churchill also announced that in addition to being prime minister he would keep for himself the vital Defense Ministry.

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Aging Winston Churchill, prime minister of a sharply divided nation, conferred from his bed today with the chief lieutenants he is fitting into a new cabinet.

He was expected to announce the first six or eight key ministers later today.

They must begin at once to size up the serious problems which confront the new administration—the persistent failure of the nation to pay its way in the world trade by which it lives, the Communist threat, and the taunts of defiant segments of a declining empire.

Churchill returned to office last night with a thin majority in the 625-seat House of Commons even though the narrowly-defeated Labour party won more of the popular vote.

Meets Advisers

Special police patrolled the streets outside his home in Hyde Park gate, a short, dead-end street, as Churchill conferred in his bedroom with top advisers, including Sir David Maxwell Fyfe and Oliver Lyttelton. Maxwell Fyfe may become his minister of labor and Lyttelton the chancellor of the exchequer.

Conservative party headquarters indicated Churchill's first announcement on his cabinet would be channeled through 10 Downing Street, official residence of prime ministers.

Besides filling the top jobs, Churchill must also name 50 or 60 other ministers and assistant ministers to help plan and carry out his policies.

Yesterday afternoon, a few hours after the outcome of the voting became certain, Prime Minister Clement Attlee went to King George and resigned. Then the king summoned Churchill to Buckingham Palace and asked him to form a new government.

45-Minute Conference

The weak and ailing monarch, still recuperating from a serious lung operation, kept the lengthy, 76-year-old Churchill for 45 minutes to talk over policies and cabinet-making.

Then Churchill went home for dinner and a talk with Anthony Eden, his deputy leader and a man experienced in conducting British foreign policy.

O & W Can't Pay

Railroad Says Earnings Won't Permit Raise; to Meet Tuesday

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—The bankrupt Ontario and Western Railway says it can't afford to keep paying a temporary wage increase granted 1,500 employees last spring.

Union sources in Delaware county say a wage conference with the company is to be held here Tuesday.

A spokesman for the railroad yesterday blamed low earnings for the wage situation.

He said a court order allowing a 12½-cent hike for operating employees and nine and one-half cents for non-operating workers expired last month.

Trustees did not ask the order to be extended, the spokesman added, because earnings "do not permit of a continued increase at the moment."

The road, which runs between Weehawken, N. J., and Oswego, N. Y., with branches to Port Jervis and Utica, N. Y., and Scranton, Pa., has been bankrupt since 1937.

Lutherans Declare Truman Violates Church, State Idea

The matter of the presidential appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican came up for discussion yesterday at a meeting of the officers and staff members of the United Lutheran Synod of New York at its headquarters, 231 Madison avenue, New York. The president of the synod, the Rev. Dr. Frederick R. Knobel, presented a copy of the letter that is to go out to the ministers of the more than 350 churches in New York state and a part of New England.

"The appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican," writes Dr. Knobel, "violates the American ideal of the separation of church and state, the very foundation of our civil liberties. The result of such appointment would be a step by America into the secret councils of the dark ages, from which the Reformation set mankind free."

This action follows out the official action of the parent body, the United Lutheran Church in America, at its convention in Des Moines last year, and the recent statement of the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church, "Along with millions of other American Lutherans I regard the appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican as a breach of the American principle of separation of church and state. It clearly gives preferential status to one church over all others. It is ridiculous to pretend that this diplomatic recognition is being accorded to a tiny secular state. All the world knows that the ambassador is to be sent to the Pope as a powerful religious leader. I hope that the United States Senate will rebuff this assault on historic American principle."

Reformation Day Service Will Be Held on Sunday

The annual Reformation Day service of the Protestant Churches of Kingston will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone street, Sunday at 8 p. m. This service marks the 434th anniversary of the Reformation. This rally is one of several throughout the nation commemorating the launching of the Reformation October 31, 1517.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. David A. MacLennan of the Yale Divinity School. His topic will be Why Protestants Worship.

The following local clergy will participate in the evening's service: The Rev. Arthur Oudemool, pastor of the First Dutch Church; the Rev. Dr. William Carner Cain, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Dr. Frank Housh, pastor of St. James Methodist Church; the Rev. Dr. Ralph Housh, Lawrence Golliv, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

The following musical program has been arranged by Miss Lucinda Merritt, Trinity Church organist, and Mrs. Willard Burke, Trinity Church Director: Violin prelude, Meditation, from Thais Massenet, by Richard Meyer; solo, Consider and Hear Me, Harker, by Richard Meyer; anthem, The Heavens Are Declaring, Beethoven; and postlude, Finale in F. Read.

Lutherans Declare Truman Violates Church, State Idea

The matter of the presidential appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican came up for discussion yesterday at a meeting of the officers and staff members of the United Lutheran Synod of New York at its headquarters, 231 Madison avenue, New York. The president of the synod, the Rev. Dr. Frederick R. Knobel, presented a copy of the letter that is to go out to the ministers of the more than 350 churches in New York state and a part of New England.

"The appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican," writes Dr. Knobel, "violates the American ideal of the separation of church and state, the very foundation of our civil liberties. The result of such appointment would be a step by America into the secret councils of the dark ages, from which the Reformation set mankind free."

This action follows out the official action of the parent body, the United Lutheran Church in America, at its convention in Des Moines last year, and the recent statement of the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church, "Along with millions of other American Lutherans I regard the appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican as a breach of the American principle of separation of church and state. It clearly gives preferential status to one church over all others. It is ridiculous to pretend that this diplomatic recognition is being accorded to a tiny secular state. All the world knows that the ambassador is to be sent to the Pope as a powerful religious leader. I hope that the United States Senate will rebuff this assault on historic American principle."

Reformation Day Service Will Be Held on Sunday

The annual Reformation Day service of the Protestant Churches of Kingston will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone street, Sunday at 8 p. m. This service marks the 434th anniversary of the Reformation. This rally is one of several throughout the nation commemorating the launching of the Reformation October 31, 1517.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. David A. MacLennan of the Yale Divinity School. His topic will be Why Protestants Worship.

The following local clergy will participate in the evening's service: The Rev. Arthur Oudemool, pastor of the First Dutch Church; the Rev. Dr. William Carner Cain, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Dr. Frank Housh, pastor of St. James Methodist Church; the Rev. Dr. Ralph Housh, Lawrence Golliv, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

The following musical program has been arranged by Miss Lucinda Merritt, Trinity Church organist, and Mrs. Willard Burke, Trinity Church Director: Violin prelude, Meditation, from Thais Massenet, by Richard Meyer; solo, Consider and Hear Me, Harker, by Richard Meyer; anthem, The Heavens Are Declaring, Beethoven; and postlude, Finale in F. Read.

THE SELLING POINT

What will tip the scales of customer resistance in favor of mounting sales? That is always the paramount question in the field of competitive trade. Any kind of business whose very life depends upon finding a way to get people to part with their money must burn the midnight oil trying to find the answer to that simple interrogation. Some men could sell a double-breasted suit to a Phi Beta Kappa man, and others couldn't sell a shoe to a man who already owned one and could buy its

Friday, the women of this congregation will participate in the first special meeting of the Kingston Council of United Church Women, World Community Day Service, at the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, at 8 p. m. A program emphasizing the increasing importance of a Christian World Order has been prepared under the direction of the executive committee, working with Mrs. Margaret VanWagenen and Mrs. Ruth Fister. The guest speaker will be Professor Hogan, Ph.D., of New Palz Teachers' College; his subject will be Peace and World Cooperation. Next Sunday, Nov. 4, will be this congregation's annual observance of the In Memoriam Order. All who desire to send flowers for chancel decoration for this service and all who desire to make financial contributions are requested to telephone Mrs. Raymond H. Van Valkenburgh, 3446, or to write to her at her home address, 329 East Union street.

Lutherans Declare Truman Violates Church, State Idea

The matter of the presidential appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican came up for discussion yesterday at a meeting of the officers and staff members of the United Lutheran Synod of New York at its headquarters, 231 Madison avenue, New York. The president of the synod, the Rev. Dr. Frederick R. Knobel, presented a copy of the letter that is to go on to the Vatican of the more than 350 churches in New York state and a part of New England. "The appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican," writes Dr. Knobel, "violates the American ideal of the separation of church and state, the very foundation of our civil liberties. The result of such appointment would be a step by America into the secret councils of the dark ages, from which the Reformation set mankind free."

This action follows out the official action of the parent body, the United Lutheran Church in America, at its convention in Des Moines last year, and the recent statement of the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the church. Said Dr. Fry, "Along with millions of other American Lutherans I regard the appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican as a breach of the American principle of separation of church and state. It clearly gives preferential status to one church over all others. It is ridiculous to pretend that this diplomatic recognition is being accorded to a tiny sect of Christians. The world knows that the ambassador is to be sent to the Pope as a powerful religious leader. I hope that the United States Senate will rebuff this assault on historic American principle."

Reformation Day Service Will Be Held on Sunday

The annual Reformation Day service of the Protestant Churches of Kingston will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone street, Sunday at 8 p. m. The service marks the 434th anniversary of the Reformation. This rally is one of several throughout the nation commemorating the launching of the Reformation October 31, 1517.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. David A. MacLennan of the Yale Divinity School. His topic will be Why Protestants Worship. The following local clergy will participate in the evening's service: The Rev. Arthur Oudemool, pastor of the First Dutch Church; the Rev. Dr. William Carner, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church; the Rev. Dr. Frank Houston, pastor of St. James Methodist Church; the Rev. Dr. Ralph Hous Lawrence Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Seven Kauder Hens Again Place High

Seven Kauder hens, from three different breeds, made such individual scores in 1951 official laying tests that they placed first, or in the first three places, at three different 1951 tests, Irving Kauder of New Paltz reported today.

The first White Leghorn hen at Georgia was a Kauder bird with a score of 301 eggs and 312.1 points. The third White Leghorn hen at Georgia also was a Kauder bird with a score of 307 eggs and 308.8 points.

At Georgia also, Kauder Barred Rocks won first, second and third. The high bird had a record of 304 eggs and 319.95 points.

In the Pennsylvania test, a Kauder New Hampshire placed second in her class with a score of 294 eggs and 310.8 points.

In a close race at the Storrs International Egg-Laying Test in Connecticut, a Kauder White Leghorn placed third by a narrow margin with a record of 318 eggs and 345.45 points.

Two Kauder birds kept world records and all-time records. Kauder's Century Belle's all-time record was unbroken at the Storrs test while the world record and all-time breed record of Kauder's Victory Queen, a New Hampshire, was still standing at the western New York test.

Nearly 2,000,000 people in England depend on the coal industry for a living.

Admits Double Charges

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—William Fleming, 28, a shipping clerk, was arrested for burglary and arson last night. Police said he admitted looting six business establishments and setting fires to destroy evidence. Fleming was employed by a printing firm in Maspeth, Queens, which was looted and set afire Oct. 19. After a week's investigation, police picked up Fleming last night questioned him for three and a half hours and finally, he said, obtained his admission of the six crimes.

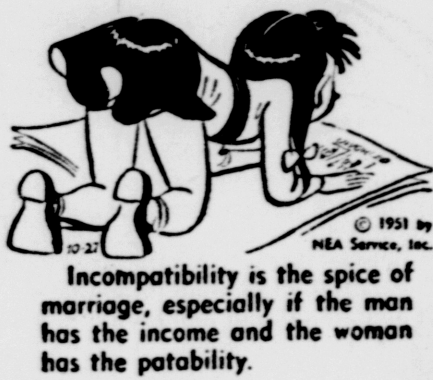

Veto Is Expected

Indianapolis, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Indiana Legislature's welfare financing bill was in the hands of Governor Henry F. Schricker today with a good chance of it being killed by a veto. The Legislature adjourned its special session yesterday after passing the bill, which provides emergency state-county financing of the welfare bill in the event federal funds are withheld in the future. A highly placed Democrat told a newspaper he believed the governor would veto the bill. Schricker has five days in which to act.

Face Grave Decision

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—"Should our three-year-old daughter grow up blind—or not grow up at all?" That was the choice doctors gave the parents of three-year-old Patricia Graziano, who has cancer of the eye. Patricia already has had one eye removed. Specialists said her life depends on the removal of the other.

Horseshoe Forge Shoes No Horses

Lexington, Mass. (AP)—Fulton Brown's horseshoe forge here is one of the largest sellers of horse shoes in the world. But none of the shoes are used to shoe horses.

The business is built around foot scrapers, andirons, nameplates for houses and other metal devices which are fashioned mostly from the shoes. It uses both used and new horse, pony, mule and donkey shoes. Brown explains that the used shoes start out being iron but are hammered into steel under the pounding of the horses' hooves. Brown has refused to use substitutes for genuine horseshoes. He says his business has been built on the strength and sentiment attached to the genuine article.

How to Make Most Of Picture Windows

One of the most popular features of today's architecture is the picture window now appearing in houses of all styles, and to gain the most enjoyment from these large glass expanses, furniture must be carefully chosen and well arranged.

Chairs and sofas should be low so that they do not obstruct the view, and placed in the room to face the window instead of hugging the walls. This, of course, means that the pieces must be so designed that they are attractive from all sides. Long, low cocktail tables are especially adaptable to the picture-window room as they may be used to serve a large conversational grouping or may be placed in front of the window and used as a window seat.

As a large window exposes the room to damaging rays of the sun, be sure to select your fabrics and rugs in sunfast colors.

Functional Rooms Move Into Garage

Home builders in many cities are now cutting costs by moving the kitchen, laundry, heater room and breakfast room into the garage. The attached garage is being stretched out into an elbow from the main house, large enough to include the functional parts of the average home.

This concentration of all operating parts of the house in one section, completely apart from the living and sleeping quarters, eliminates the need of having a basement.

Points About Fertilizer

Here are some things to remember about fertilizer: Never let fertilizer touch a plant stalk, stem, foliage or flower, it burns them. Well-rotted manure is much better for your garden than fresh, which may bring harmful bacteria, weed seeds and unpleasant odor. The bacteria and seeds are killed in the well-rotted, composted manure. Except when you are working it into soil, never put commercial fertilizer on dry ground. Water the soil first.

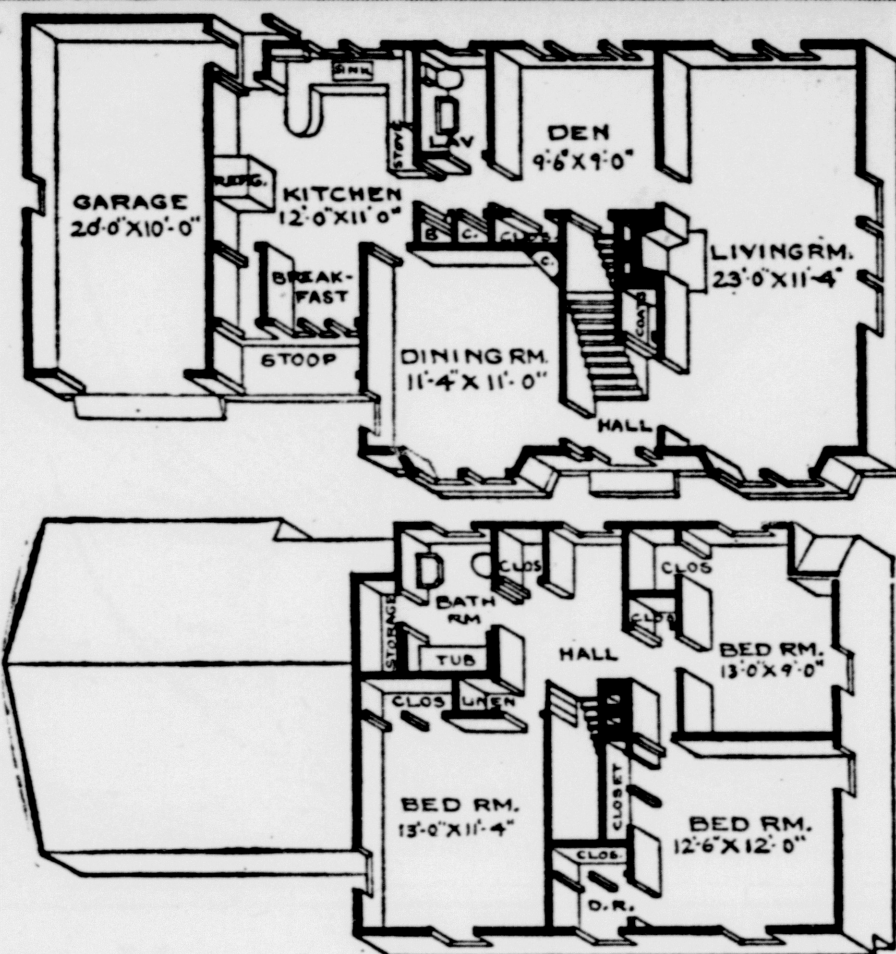

Insulation for Garage

The wall next to an unheated attached garage should be insulated. If there's a room over the garage, the floor should be insulated.

Cement Paint Coverage

When cement water paint is to be used on cement or cinder block, you can usually figure that one gallon will cover 100 square feet the first coat; 140, the second.

THE BARRINGTON

Attractive Early-American Design

Rooms Seven
Bedrooms Three
Closets Ten
Cubage: House 21,400 ft.
Garage 3,800 ft.

Dimensions 30' x 24'
Extending the entire length of the house, the living room is unusually well lighted and ventilated, for there are two windows in the front wall; two more directly opposite in the back wall, and three more in the right wall.

Another very attractive feature of the room is the large fireplace in the center of the left wall. Even with these seven windows, two doors and the fireplace taking up such a large amount of wall space, there is still plenty of room for good furniture arrangement in this 23'x11'4" living room. In the left wall a second door opens on a hallway leading to the den, lavatory and kitchen.

Just 9'6"x9' in measurements, the den receives an abundance of light and good ventilation through the three windows in its back wall. The two-windowed bay in the front wall and the single window in the left wall help to make the 11'4"x11' dining room a pleasant, well-lighted room. Located in the right back corner of the room, the built-in china cabinet makes a convenient storage spot for china and glassware; have drawers built under the shelves and you'll have a conveniently located storage place for your clean table linens.

Opening directly off the dining room, the 12'x11' kitchen is larger than that found in many modern homes; it is divided into a working area and an eating area.

Working counters, etc., are in an L-shaped array along the back and right walls of the room. The sink is located under the double windows in the back wall; the stove is located at the right end of the line of counters. Centered in the left wall, the refrigerator is conveniently near to the stove and to the working counters.

In the back wall there is a door leading to a small stoop, connecting directly with the back yard. This small stoop also provides protection when you're going to or coming from the garage.

Located in the front section of the kitchen the breakfast nook is bright and cheerful; receives plenty of light through the paneled windows looking out on the front stoop. Another door in the front wall of this room leads to the stoop and to the front yard. If you so desire, you could have a door cut in the wall separating this front stoop and the garage to provide another protected entry way to your garage.

One window in the left wall provides ample light and ventilation for the 20'x10' garage. There is plenty of room for overhead storage space as well as for a small workbench if you care to have one installed.

Three good sized bedrooms and a bath take up most of the second floor of "The Barrington," where there also is a wealth of generous sized storage closets. A central hallway connects all the rooms on the second floor.

There is a large closet opening on the central hallway just before the door to the right back bedroom. This 13'x9' room also has a large closet and is well lighted by a window in the back wall and another in the right wall; these windows, located as they are on adjoining walls, also guarantee cross ventilation for this room.

Designed to serve as the master bedroom, the right front bedroom is 12'6"x12' in dimensions. This room has an unusually long closet in the left wall which can be divided in two sections to better serve the storage needs of two people.

The dressing room also contains a closet. Well lighted and ventilated by one window, this dressing area makes it easier for two to share the master bedroom as it provides a space for one to dress or undress without disturbing the other, who may be resting, or asleep.

One window in the right wall and another in the front wall of the master bedroom provide good lighting and cross ventilation. Another large storage closet opens off the connecting hallway just to the right of the door to the bathroom.

Containing a tub as well as a shower, the bathroom is lighted and ventilated by one window in the back wall. There is a large storage area in the left wall of the bathroom.

Located on the second floor of "The Barrington" the linen closet opens on the central hall just before the door to the left front bedroom. Measuring 13'x11'4", this room is large enough to be shared by two youngsters.

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, The Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Size of Coal Bin Is Very Important

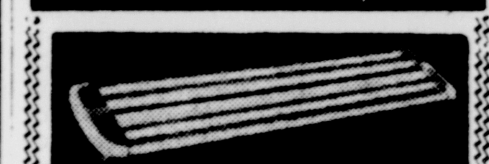

If you are using coal or coke for fuel, it is desirable that your coal bin be large enough to hold the entire winter's supply of fuel. The coal bin should also be conveniently located so that it may be loaded from the outside. It is easy to determine the size of the coal bin you need when you know that a ton of anthracite coal will require about 40 cubic feet of space. If you are using a stoker to fire your furnace, it is wise to have the coal bin directly in line and in front of the furnace. In this way the stoker may be fed directly from this storage space. This is particularly useful if you want to use a bin-fed type of stoker.

Canopy Over Doorway Will Provide Protection

When a front door opens directly into a living room, one of the advantages of a front porch, or at least a stoop, is to keep out rain and snow while the door is opened, and also to afford temporary protection while raising or lowering an umbrella.

For homes, lacking a covered doorway, an aluminum canopy has been designed, 42 inches long and 32 inches wide. It is equipped with hardened aluminum brackets and stainless steel hardware for hanging.

When Painters Traveled

The name "journeyman painter" comes from the painters who, at the time of the Renaissance, journeyed from country to country with their brushes, palettes and secretly blended paints. Today a journeyman painter is one who has had at least three years experience and schooling as an apprentice.

Households Increase

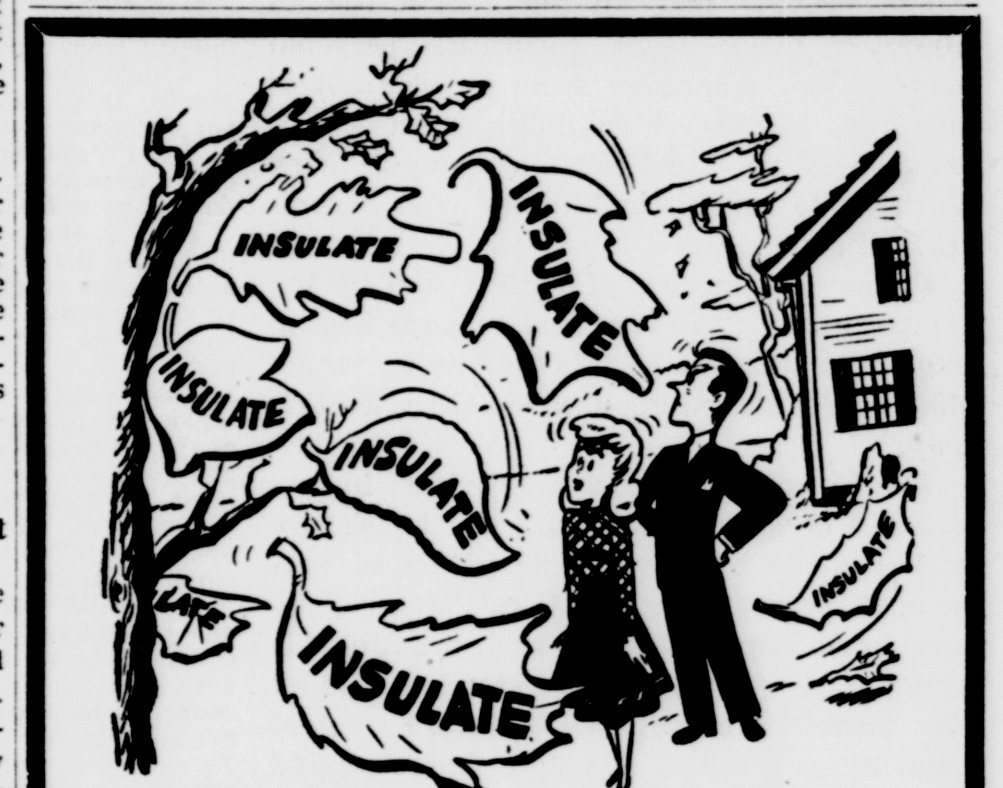

This year's census is expected to show an increase of 5,000,000 households since 1940 when there were 35,100,000. In 1948, there were an estimated 40,700,000 and 2,500,000 couples were sharing living quarters with other families.

Shutters Give Front Door New Emphasis

In newly constructed houses, many front doors are given emphasis by the addition of shutters. These permit the introduction of lovely color in an area that focuses attention on the entrance-way and seems to add a welcoming note. The shutters that flank the front door are usually painted the same color as the other shutters on the house and, of course, blend with the coloring of the roof.

Almost any color can be used for the purpose and attractive tones have appeared lately of colors ranging from magenta to turquoise — from yellow-gold to terra cotta.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 27, 1951

AMENDMENT NO. 2

This proposed constitutional amendment would provide that an application for an absentee ballot shall constitute personal registration, whenever such registration is required, for voters in military service or inmates of veterans' hospitals outside New York State and their families who accompany them.

Under section five of article two of the Constitution: "In cities and villages having five thousand inhabitants or more, voters shall be registered upon personal application only."

The Constitution further provides, in section six of article two, that the legislature may provide by law for a system of permanent personal registration. The legislature has not provided for such a state-wide system of permanent registration. Under the present restriction, therefore, voters from those areas of the state where annual registration is required are prevented from exercising their right of franchise if, for any reason, they are unable to comply with the registration procedure.

This affects, among others, voters in military service, inmates of veterans' hospitals located outside New York and the members of the families of such voters.

The amendment provides that "an application for an absentee ballot shall constitute personal registration whenever such registration is required" for persons in military service and their families.

This amendment should be approved for the same reasons that Amendment No. 1 should be approved. Both remove discriminatory restrictions now operating against service men.

MEN, MICE AND TRAPS

There was a mouse which lived in a house where the people were very careless about putting food in secure containers out of his reach. By study he soon found out that he could recognize the traps set for him and could avoid them. He learned that if he left a bit of the food he stole where the family cat could reach it he could continue his plundering without interference from that source. He grew bolder and fatter, and the family continued the foolish practice of leaving food where he could get at it.

Then one day he carried out the most daring raid of all. A large and very expensive cake was left on the pantry shelf in anticipation of a wedding to be held the next day. The mouse labored all night and managed to carry most of the wedding cake back to his hole before morning. He was careful to leave the usual bribe for the cat.

In the morning the members of the family were so indignant that they set out to make life miserable for the mouse. They set new and more efficient traps, replaced the corrupt cat with a new one, and proceeded to seal food in containers which were mouse-proof. The mouse soon grew weak from want of food and was easy prey for the new cat.

Mice and evil men can plunder decent people for a long time with apparent immunity, but sooner or later they will go too far. When that time comes all the cleverness and bribery in the world help them very little.

FLAMING 'HOT RODS'

When some of the operators of "hot rod" automobiles devised a method of causing flames to shoot several feet from their exhaust pipes, they had police stumped temporarily. It seems that the authors of traffic laws did not anticipate this kind of inventiveness.

The "hot rodders" have advocates who say that the activity provides an outlet for youthful energies and a chance to exercise and develop mechanical ingenuity. An implication is created that the "hot rod" fad is constructive and necessary to automotive progress. But certain effects on the characters of the young people who participate are suggested by the flame-throwing incident and by their habits of racing on crowded streets. Such antics, carried out with no apparent thought for the safety and rights of

SPYING DIPLOMATS

There seems to be no end to the new techniques which the Soviet countries employ to keep the United States in turmoil. Strikes in American industries in which Communist unions participate are examples of disturbance by remote control.

The main line for such activity is not from the American Communist party but from a network of embassies and consulates out of which they operate under diplomatic immunity. Such immunity is also extended to those connected with the United Nations.

J. Edgar Hoover, last year, said of this: "Experience has revealed that foreign espionage agents seek the protection of a legal cover. By that I mean they seek admittance into the United States on diplomatic passports. They seek assignments to some official foreign agency and thus conceal themselves under the diplomatic cloak of immunity. To further avert suspicion, a high-ranking espionage agent may very well be employed as a clerk or in some minor capacity in a foreign establishment. However, when he speaks, those with higher-sounding titles follow his orders without question."

The McCarran Committee reports: "The chief of the investigation section of the immigration and naturalization service testified that he had no doubt in his mind that the control and direction of the Communist apparatus in the United States is centered in aliens who are in the consulates, embassies, and international organizations in the United States; . . . how easy it is for a foreign country to plant an espionage organization within the United States which would not only ply its nefarious trade but would enjoy immunity from our laws and the protective coverage of a diplomatic exequatur. From July, 1947 until March, 1951, 3,616 diplomatic visas were granted persons from Soviet countries."

Lord Vansittart, who for many years was the chief permanent official of the British foreign office, once made this very interesting point: "Under the old school, immunity was limited to the diplomatic staff. There were considerable doubts whether it even extended to the consular personnel. Certainly no one would ever have thought of extending the claim to any other body."

"With the vicious extension of the province of diplomacy has come a corresponding exaggeration of the claim for immunity. When all sorts of rogues are part of the machinery, all sorts of devices must be thought up to cover them. The process began in the greatly overstaffed Communist trade agencies—thin concealment indeed, seeing the small trade done by them. . . ."

He might have added that in the old days anyone associated with the diplomatic services was expected to be a gentleman and to engage in activities which might bring discredit upon his country. In the "democratic" era, such gentility is out of vogue. When, as in England, Tass representatives claim diplomatic immunity, the whole process has reached a new low, for while Tass regards itself as part of the press, it is actually owned by the Soviet government.

So is everything else in every Soviet country. It would be like granting the operators of a sewer system diplomatic immunity because the government owns the sewer. I am sure that could happen, too.

The State Department seems to be delicate in such matters, disliking apparently to keep anyone out of the United States who has a diplomatic passport. There is the case of Roman Kutylowski, president of the Gdnia-America Line, on whose ship, "Batory," Gerhart Eisler escaped. The immigration and naturalization service sought to deport him and locked him up on Ellis Island. But he was left off by order of the State Department. This is the testimony between the committee and the service's chief investigator:

"Mr. Arens. Now do you have information as to who it was in the State Department who made that representation?"

"Mr. Pennington. The board of immigration's decision of February 1, 1951, indicates that I have a letter from the Secretary of State dated January 29, 1951. That letter, however, does not appear in the New York file and would probably be found in the department file."

"Mr. Arens. Now who in the State Department would be the individual who would pass upon this type of case to make the representation to the Justice Department?"

"Mr. Pennington. That I can't answer. I assume that the correspondence would be signed by either the secretary or the under secretary. I can only assume that, however."

So, Mr. Kutylowski was released from Ellis Island because of some kind of diplomatic special privilege.

That Body of Yours

PREFRONTAL LOBOTOMY

A newspaper article some months ago recorded an accident in which a man had a round hole driven into his skull. In penetrating the skull the object cut across the nerve supplying the front lobe of the brain in which are the nerves in which such important structures as pain, grief, depression of spirits are located. The man received all the benefits of the operation known as lobotomy, which relieves intractable pain and deep grief. Lobotomy was first suggested by Drs. Freeman and Watts in cases where all other methods had failed, as the patient, while not regaining all his mental faculties, would nevertheless be free from intractable pain and deep grief. Recently, however, many of these patients have regained full mental faculties and have returned home and to their occupations.

In Philippine Journal of Surgery, Drs. M. M. Javier and E. Lucas state that when pain is accompanied by fear or anxiety or when it is followed by panicky conduct due to remembrance of previous racking experiences, then the patient is the type that is helped by lobotomy. From their experience these surgeons believe that the cutting of the posterior or back lobe of the brain is most effective in clearing the brain and removing great grief and depression, whereas the anterior or front part is more advantageous for the treatment of unbearable pain because the possible poor results in mentality are less likely to occur.

Drs. Javier and Lucas describe a slight change in the usual operation in which the cut is made closer to the extreme frontal pole of the brain covering. This method of operation is intermediate between the closed method of Drs. Freeman and Watts, the originators of lobotomy for relief of grief and pain, and the open technique of Drs. Lyerly, Penfield, Poppen and others. This treatment was used in four patients with intractable pain from cancer, and it relieved pain and mental suffering without personality change. It may be remembered that the original operation was performed with one object—to relieve intractable pain and deep grief. There was no thought of the personality. Many of these cases and their families were content to have pain and grief removed even if the patient lost all sense of responsibility.

From the above four cases Drs. Javier and Lucas regard this change from the usual operation as the operation of choice for relief of intractable pain, removal of mental suffering and preservation of the personality.

"How About Pulling in Your Own Belt for a Change?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Jimmie Byrnes, spry 70-year-old ex-secretary of state, ex-Supreme Court Justice, ex-senator, and present governor of South Carolina, has a nickname for his fellow South Carolinian, Bernard M. Baruch. Byrnes calls the 81-year-old Baruch "Old Man Diem."

The other day Old Man Diem telephoned Byrnes from New York to tell him about a surprise meeting he had had with President Truman at the home of Gen. George Marshall at Leesburg, Va. Despite the fact that Truman once had written Baruch a bitter letter, he was quite cordial at the meeting, and Baruch so reported to Governor Byrnes.

"The President," he said, "was very cordial and I greeted him the same way."

"I knew you'd get in his camp at the first opportunity," wisecracked Byrnes, who has not noticeably warmed up to Truman following his own quarrel.

"Our conversation," said Baruch, continuing his telephone conversation to Byrnes, "hadn't been going long when your name came up. And the President remarked: 'You know, in all my public life, I have never met a man more capable than Jim Byrnes.'"

"Will you say that again?" asked Governor Byrnes, half-joking, half-pretending not to hear.

Baruch repeated the President's complimentary remark.

"I haven't been reading the papers carefully," replied the governor of South Carolina, "but it seems to me that I've heard somewhere that there was going to be a presidential election next year."

Note—Complimentary remarks or uncomplimentary remarks, Jimmie Byrnes will not be for Truman. He's for Eisenhower—on either the Republican or Democratic ticket.

Tennessee Feudist

The incident was hushed up, but shortly before Congress adjourned, 82-year-old Senator McKellar of Tennessee added round six to his record as the Senate's most bellicose member.

In past encounters, McKellar has tried to bean one victim with a gavel, boot another in the pants, flail another with a roll of newspapers—and once he landed a surprise left hook.

This time, however, McKellar attacked with his walking stick. The incident took place behind closed doors of the Senate Appropriations Committee. The victim was Displaced Persons Commissioner Harry Rosenfield, who made the mistake of interrupting a McKellar harangue.

The old man had been hounding Displaced Persons Chairman John Gibson, who had difficulty understanding, "I beg your pardon, sir?" He kept repeating:

Finally, McKellar snapped: "Isn't there anyone around here who understands anything about this?"

Rosenfield jumped up to his colleague's defense.

"If the chairman of the displaced persons. . . . Rosenfield began.

But McKellar cut him off. "You can't talk to me like that!" he shrieked. "You sit down! I don't want to hear another word from you at this meeting!"

Shaking with anger and shouting incoherently, McKellar picked up his cane and lunged at Rosenfield. The commissioner ducked and the blow narrowly missed his head.

This was round six for McKellar.

So They Say...

We are always hearing a clamor for a strong foreign policy. People who use that phrase live in the past. Those days have gone forever.

Q—What did the initials V.D.B. on the 1909-S Lincoln penny signify?

A—They are the initials of the designer of the coin, Victor D. Brenner.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

In our economic world, the trees are obscuring the forest. We do little things here and little things there but inflation still marches on.

Across the country one will find such a statement as this: buy savings bonds and hold down inflation. Is that true? It is in every respect. A person with a few hundred or thousand dollars in his pockets (and there are millions of such people in the country) has a score of choices where this money may go. If he buys savings bonds, the money does not flow into inflationary channels.

Buying savings bonds is a tree in the inflationary forest. The forest is still there.

Price and wage controls are other trees in this forest. Sure, they are important. But they don't get to the heart of the inflation problem.

Any power that has been loose for nearly two decades in the national economy is not seriously curbed when a few roadblocks are thrown up. As I pointed out last week, cheap money and inflation are deep-seated in the life of America. Drastic measures must be taken to uproot them. And it is doubtful if anything will be done. The Hoover report outlined clearly what could and should happen to economic America. Fiscal soundness in Washington will hurt a lot of people just as inflation is hurting many today.

A deep base for our present inflation which has brought low interest rates, high wages, high prices and high taxes to America, was set up in 1933. In that year we went off the gold standard.

By congressional enactment, we made our people sell their gold to Uncle Sam for $20.67 an ounce. When all the gold in the country had been thus commandeered, Congress passed further legislation marking gold up to a possible $13.34 an ounce price. The dollar was deliberately cheapened by these laws. We had a 50-cent gold dollar.

The inflation machinery that these measures set in motion has done irreparable damage to the national economy. Our whole price and wage system has been upset by it.

In 1933, Uncle Sam had about four billions of dollars of gold. Today he has 22 billions. Our paper money is still based on gold. So today we have about five and one-half times the gold base that we had in 1933.

And on this base we have built the most colossal debt ever known in the history of the world. In 1933, Uncle Sam's debt was 22-billions of dollars. Today it is 257-billions. In 18 years, the average yearly growth in debt has been 13-billions. That is 36-millions of dollars a day. Sunday and holidays one and one-half millions an hour for 18 years!

Debts at the hands of Uncle Sam create money. Literally, boatloads of money have been thrown into the economy by the issuance of bonds. And this terrific value of dollars has:

- 1) Driven interest down to an uneconomic level . . .
- 2) Increased prices greatly . . .
- 3) Forced wages higher and higher.

Of course, World War II necessarily threw great strain on the economy. The war cost 250-millions a day. Of this, 100-million was raised by taxation, and 150-million by borrowing. But with the arrival of V-J Day, someone in authority in Washington should have said: "It is time to get our fiscal house in order. Our expendi-

Mrs. Shultis Is Named for Fifth Term by WCTU

MRS. GEORGE W. SHULTIS (Official Report)

Mrs. George W. Shultis, recently elected for the fifth consecutive year as president of Ulster County Women's Christian Temperance Union, has returned from Buffalo where she attended the 77th annual convention of New York State WCTU held in the Asbury—Delaware Methodist Church. There were more than 300 registered delegates, and a nine-point educational program was adopted for the coming year. The first night of the convention was guest night, when heads of civic, religious, educational and fraternal groups are introduced, followed by a reception to all delegates and guests. Friday night was one of the highlights of the convention, it being presidents' night, when some 200 county and local presidents dressed in white were seated in a body to listen to the annual address of the state president. Saturday morning was the annual election of officers. All state officers were re-elected except the vice-president, Mrs. Linnefelter of Watertown, who resigned because of ill health. Mrs. Hazel G. Wells of Riverhead was elected to fill the vacancy. The evening service was given over to the young people. A pearl medal speech contest was held in which seven young men and women competed. The winner was Henry Henderson, of Lafargeville. His topic was I Am an American. The new motion picture, Public Enemy No. 1, was also presented. Sunday morning the convention sermon was preached by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dean Richardson. Sunday evening was world's night when 200 women dressed in white, and carrying lighted candles, marched in a body to the front of the church, demonstrating the light of the temperance gospel being carried around the world in fifty-four nations. This was followed by a stirring address by the Rev. Geo. Stone, D.D., secretary of International Christian Endeavor.

Monday evening the convention closed with a banquet held in the Top of the Town Restaurant. The speaker was the Rev. Dutton Peterson of Odessa whose topic was Room for All. Dr. Peterson in urging more people to work for the temperance cause, said, "Don't just look and listen, get up and do something." He said many agencies are attempting to rescue people after they have fallen off the precipice, but if someone wants to put up a fence to keep them from falling off, then they're tampering with other people's business. "The WCTU building such a fence, they need your help, now," Mrs. Margaret Evans, a Negro New York city high school teacher, whose job it is to teach 6,000 girls and boys in various metropolitan high schools the effects of alcohol, tobacco and drugs, is doing a marvelous work in her field. She said, "It seems that after the police have locked the barn from where the horse was stolen, it is left to the WCTU to rescue the horse." The young people need our help, and the help of every Christian worker as never before. It is a confused world in which they find themselves.

During the time of the convention Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip were visiting in Ottawa. Word, came to the convention that the local authorities had forbidden the serving of any alcoholic beverage at any reception given in their honor while in Ottawa. The convention sent congratulations to Ottawa a telegram to President Truman urging that the same non-alcoholic meals served to the royal couple at Ottawa be served on the royal visitors trip to Washington.

Several resolutions touching on national and international affairs were adopted. Delegates were especially emphatic in declaring the WCTU's opposition to having any beer company sponsor television coverage of next year's Republican or Democratic national conventions. The delegates also went on record in favor of mandatory blood tests to determine alcoholic content in cases where drunken driving is suspected. A copy was sent to Gov. Dewey urging him to recommend legislation to this end. And to instruct the courts to interpret the findings of the laboratory as conclusive evidence.

A resolution calling for all WCTU members to oppose communism by following Christian principles in their lives, and put the convention on record as having faith in the United Nations as a strong force for peace.

A message of great interest was sent to the convention from Dr. Ella A. Boole, 93-year-old world president emerita of New York city, who encouraged the delegates to advance the new crusade for sobriety. "The new leaders are many, and shows new interest. The fight for abstinence will not be an easy victory, but we are crusaders and will stand until evil is banished."

WCTU members in New York state now number 20,000.

The bidding of today's hand was very instructive. South's response of three no-trump showed balanced distribution, strength in each of the unbid suits, and high cards equal to a minimum opening no-trump bid.

North did not make the mistake of thinking that South had made a "closing" bid. He thought to himself: "How high would I bid if my partner had opened the bidding with one no-trump?" The answer was obvious, so North promptly bid six no-trump.

The play was as thoughtful as the bidding. South won the first trick with the king of hearts and set to work on the clubs, knowing that he needed four club tricks to make his slam.

If the contract had been a grand slam, South would have finessed the jack of clubs at once. But South could afford to lose one club trick. Hence he took precautions against losing two tricks. Declarer began by leading a club to dummy's ace at trick two. Then he led a low club from dummy towards his king-nine. When East played the eight, South finessed the nine, not caring whether or not the finesse held.

Actually, of course, the nine of clubs won. South then cashed the king of clubs, entered dummy with a spade, and gave up one club trick to East. The rest of the tricks were clearly declarer's.

South's line of play was safe against queen-ten-x-x of clubs on either side. If West had held the four clubs, East would have been unable to follow suit when dummy led the small club. Thus warned, South would have put up the king of clubs and returned a club toward dummy's jack.

Don't Feed Children's Desire to Shock Us

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
A new gas main is being installed in the street before Trigger's house and he has been having a wonderful, five-year-old time with his friends in the work crew, watching, listening, talking.

One morning, an inspector came to check the job. He doesn't like what he finds. As he drives off, one of Trigger's friends tells the world what the inspector can do with his advice.

To do this, he uses five or six of those Anglo-Saxon one-syllable words which our novelists used to denote by asterisks, and now spell out happily on as many pages as possible to show us what free, uninhibited spirits they are.

That night, Trigger is incensed by his mother's request for the soap he is using as cargo for one of the boats in his bath.

When she says, "Be careful, I can't get at your ears," he pulls away, and with the aid of his friend's Anglo-Saxon monosyllables, tells her what she, too, can do with her advice.

Trigger is not using those words in complete innocence. Although he doesn't know what they mean, they are nonetheless aggressive words, associated for him by the workman with violence, with anger. Like his friend, Trigger uses them as a substitute for an act of violence.

If his mother is wise, she will do what the psychologists tell her to and refuse to react with shock and dismay. She will be less interested in what her child has said than in the feeling behind what he says.

Not until she has persuaded Trigger to discuss his anger, not until she has proven how baseless it is, should she talk about the meaning of the ugly words he has used.

Then, without shock, without dismay, she might say to her little boy: "The words you used are hate words that some people use to describe their bodies. In our house, we like words that describe people's bodies with respect and love." Then Trigger's mother should give him the right words in place of the unacceptable ones he has been given.

"HATE WORDS" TEACH CONTEMPT
Children's use of ugly words that describe parts and functions of the human body sometimes indicates they are ready for some sex instruction. They will begin to learn how to discriminate between wholesome and unwholesome attitudes.

Their desire to shock us should never be fed. It is important for us to remember that in some people, the desire to shock and horrify can become a sick one, so that those afflicted with it derive their only pleasure from their ability to startle, revolt and disgust others.

When we understand how this urge to shock, like others, can go rancid, we will be more intelligently on guard against giving young ones any sensational, encouraging reactions to their attempts to horrify.

We have every right to deny children the persistent use of cynical and hostile terms for the human body and its works. We do not live in Saxon days when the offensive words were accepted parts of everyday speech. We are centuries distant, and why or how these words came to be befouled for us is beside the point.

The fact is, they have been befouled. Our revulsion from them is natural and wholesome; for though we are not revolted by what they mean, we are quite properly revolted by the hate, contempt and cynicism felt for what they mean by the people who use them.

If these ideas seem valid to use, we should not have much trouble persuading little boys and girls to express their anger with us openly, instead of hiding them behind aggressive language that will teach contempt for what we wish them to respect.

Follow the Discard Pile Rule

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have just dug my way out of a pile of questions and have come across nineteen letters that asked the same question about picking up a frozen pile. Each letter gave a different example, but they all boiled down to the same situation.

Suppose the discard pile is frozen before either side melds. For example, the dealer may turn up a red three or a wild card as the first up-card. The player at your right discards a seven. Can you, needing 90 points, put down Joker-K-K-K and a pair of sevens?

Would it be equally legal (or illegal) to put down Joker-K-K and three sevens?

The answer is that either meld is perfectly legal and entitles you to the discard pile. You are allowed to take a frozen pile with a natural pair that matches the previous discard. If your side has not previously melded, your meld must add to the right total—but that total does not have to be in addition to your natural pair.

To put it another way, the rule for taking the discard pile in an initial meld is exactly the same whether the pile is frozen or unfrozen. The only difference arises when you make your initial meld from your hand and then want to take the discard pile later on.

For example, suppose you need 90 points and meld Joker-A-A from your hand. If the discard pile is frozen at your next turn to play you will be able to take the pile with one matching card and one wild card. However, if the discard pile is frozen, you will still need a natural pair that matches the top card of the discard pile.

Q—Four people sat down to play Canasta and after three complete hands had been played it was discovered that there wasn't a single joker in the pack. Should those three hands be counted? Two said yes, and two said it isn't Canasta without jokers.

A—The three hands should be counted. This is a general principle of card games. Once a hand is completely played, it is too late to bring up the fact that the deck was deficient in some way. As a matter of fact, if the discovery were made while a hand was in progress, that hand would be continued and would be counted—

Mail Frauders Guilty

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—A federal court jury has found two men and their corporation guilty of mail fraud in a fake $123,003 fund-raising scheme that spent only $7,349 for its beneficiaries, cancer sufferers. Found guilty on an 11-count indictment were Joseph L. Brandt, 52, and Sidney Greenberg, 45. They are each liable to a possible 55 years in prison and $11,000 fine. Their $5,000 bail was canceled by Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman pending sentencing Wednesday.

Two Killed in Crash

Milford, Conn., Oct. 27 (AP)—Two men were killed last night when a passenger car plowed into the rear of a truck standing on the Boston Post road here. The victims were John W. Nolan, 42, and Norman W. Bellman, 35, both of Milford. Policeman Robert Stickney said a truck operated by Peter B. De Formato, 37, Port Chester, N. Y., was standing in the highway, preparatory to turning left into a factory driveway.

Mail to Korea Early

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Post Office Department today issued an urgent request that those Korean Christmas mailings off next week. The department said that in view of an extremely heavy volume of mail moving into the Far East, it figured that Nov. 1 is the deadline for the mailings of Christmas parcels to American troops fighting in Korea, to assure delivery by Dec. 25.

Mrs. Shultis Is Named for Fifth Term by WCTU

MRS. GEORGE W. SHULTIS

(Official Report)

Mrs. George W. Shultis, recently elected for the fifth consecutive year as president of Ulster County Women's Christian Temperance Union, has returned from Buffalo where she attended the 77th annual convention of New York State WCTU held in the Asbury-Delaware Methodist Church.

There were more than 300 registered delegates, and a nine-point educational program was adopted for the coming year. The first night of the convention was guest night, when heads of civic, religious, educational and fraternal groups are introduced, followed by a reception to all delegates and guests. Friday night, was one of the highlights of the convention, it being presidents' night, when some 200 county and local presidents dressed in white were seated in a body to listen to the annual address of the state president. Saturday morning was the annual election of officers. All state officers were reelected except the vice-president, Mrs. Lingenfelter of Watertown, who resigned because of ill health. Mrs. Hazel G. Wells of Riverhead was elected to fill the vacancy.

The evening service was given over to the young people. A pearl medal speech contest was held in which seven young men and women competed. The winner was Henry Henderson, of Lafargeville. His topic was I Am an American. The new motion picture, Public Enemy No. 1, was also presented. Sunday morning the convention sermon was preached by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dean Richardson. Sunday evening was world's night when 200 women dressed in white, and carrying lighted candles, marched in a body to the front of the church, demonstrating the light of the temperance gospel being carried around the world in fifty-four nations. This was followed by a stirring address by the Rev. Gene Stone, DD, secretary of International Christian Endeavor.

Monday evening the convention closed with a banquet held in the Top of the Town Restaurant. The speaker was the Rev. Dutton Peterson of Odessa whose topic was Room for All. Dr. Peterson in urging more people to work for the temperance cause said, "Don't just look and listen, get up and do something." He said many agencies are attempting to rescue people after they have fallen off the precipice, but if someone wants to put up a fence to keep them from falling off, then they're tampering with other people's business. "The WCTU is building such a fence, they need your help, now," Mrs. Margaret Evans, a Negro New York city high school teacher, whose job it is to teach 6,000 girls and boys in various metropolitan high schools the effects of alcohol, tobacco and drugs, is doing a marvelous work in her field. She said, "It seems that after the police have locked the barn from where the horse was stolen, it is left to the WCTU to rescue the horse."

The young people need our help, and the help of every Christian worker as never before. It is a confused world in which they find themselves.

During the time of the convention Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip were visiting in Ottawa, Word came to the delegates that the local authorities had forbidden the serving of any alcoholic beverage at any reception given in their honor while in Ottawa. The convention sent congratulations to Ottawa also a telegram to President Truman urging that the same non-alcoholic meals served to the royal couple at Ottawa be served to the royal visitors trip to Washington.

Several resolutions touching on national and international affairs were adopted. Delegates were especially emphatic in declaring the WCTU's opposition to having any beer company sponsor television coverage of next year's Republican or Democratic national conventions. The delegates also went on record in favor of mandatory blood tests to determine alcoholic content "in cases where drunken driving is suspected." A copy was sent to Gov. Dewey urging him to recommend legislation to this end.

And to instruct the courts to "interpret the findings of the laboratory as conclusive evidence."

A resolution calling for all WCTU members to oppose communism by following Christian principles in their lives, and put the convention on record as having faith in the United Nations as a strong force for peace.

A message of great interest was sent to the convention from Dr. Ella A. Boole, 93-year-old world president emerita of New York city, who encouraged the delegates to advance the new crusade for sobriety. "The new leaders are many, and shows new interest. The fight for abstinence will not be an easy victory, but we are crusaders and will stand until evil is banished."

WCTU members in New York state now number 20,000.

The answer is that either meld is perfectly legal and entitles you to the discard pile. You are allowed to take a frozen pile with a natural pair that matches the previous discard. For example, suppose you need 90 points and meld Joker-A-A from your hand. If the discard pile is not frozen, at your next turn to play you will be able to take the pile with one matching card and one wild card. However, if the discard pile is frozen, you will still need a natural pair that matches the top card of the discard pile.

Q—Four people sat down to play Canasta and after three complete hands had been played it was discovered that there wasn't a single joker in the pack. Should those three hands be counted? Two said yes, and two said it isn't Canasta without jokers.

A—The three hands should be counted. This is a general principle of card games. Once a hand is completely played, it is too late to bring up the fact that the deck was deficient in some way. As a matter of fact, if the discovery were made while a hand was in progress, that hand would be continued and would be counted.

That night, Trigger is incensed by his mother's request for the soap he is using as cargo for one of the boats in his bath.

When she says, "Hold still; I can't get at your ears," he pulls away, and with the aid of his friend's Anglo-Saxon monosyllables, tells her what she, too, can do with her advice.

Trigger is not using those words in complete innocence. Although he doesn't know what they mean, they are nonetheless aggressive words, associated for him by the workman with violence, with anger. Like his friend, Trigger uses them as a substitute for an act of violence.

If his mother is wise, she will do what the psychologists tell her to and refuse to react with shock and dismay. She will be less interested in what her child has said than in the feeling behind what he says.

Not until she has persuaded Trigger to discuss his anger, not until she has proven how baseless it is, should she talk about the meaning of the ugly words he has used.

Then, without shock, without dismay, she might say to her little boy: "The words you used are hate words that some people use to describe their bodies. In our house, we like words that describe people's bodies with respect and love." Then Trigger's mother should give him the right words in place of the unacceptable ones he has been given.

"HATE WORDS" TEACH CONTEMPT
Children's use of ugly words that describe parts and functions of the human body sometimes indicates they are ready for some sex instruction that will help them begin to learn how to discriminate between wholesome and unwholesome attitudes.

Their desire to shock us should never be fed. It is important for us to remember that in some people, the desire to shock and horrify can become a sick one, so that those afflicted with it derive their only pleasure from their ability to startle, revolt and disgust others.

When we understand this urge to shock, like others, can go rancid, we will be more intelligently on guard against giving young ones any sensational, encouraging reactions to their attempts to horrify us.

We have every right to deny children the persistent use of cynical and hostile terms for the human body and its works. We do not live in Saxon days when the offensive words were accepted parts of everyday speech. We are centuries distant, and why or how these words came to be befouled for us is beside the point.

The fact is, they have been befouled. Our revulsion from them is natural and wholesome; for though we are not revolted by what they mean, we are quite properly revolted by the hate, contempt and cynicism felt for what they mean by the people who use them.

If these ideas seem valid to us, we should not have much trouble persuading little boys and girls to express their anger with us openly, instead of hiding them behind aggressive language that will teach contempt for what we wish them to respect.

Follow the Discard Pile Rule

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

I have just dug my way out of a pile of questions and have come across nineteen letters that asked the same question about picking up a frozen pile. Each letter gave a different example, but they all boiled down to the same situation.

Suppose the discard pile is frozen before either side melds. For example, the dealer may turn up a red three or a wild card as the first up-card. The player at your right discards a seven. Can you, needing 90 points, put down Joker-K-K-K and a pair of sevens?

Would it be equally legal (or illegal) to put down Joker-K-K and three sevens?

The answer is that either meld is perfectly legal and entitles you to the discard pile. You are allowed to take a frozen pile with a natural pair that matches the previous discard. If your side has not previously melded, your meld must add to the right total—but that total does not have to be in addition to your natural pair.

To put it another way, the rule for taking the discard pile in an initial meld is exactly the same whether the pile is frozen or unfrozen. The only difference arises when you make your initial meld from your hand and then want to take the discard pile in the pack.

For example, suppose you need 90 points and meld Joker-A-A from your hand. If the discard pile is not frozen, at your next turn to play you will be able to take the pile with one matching card and one wild card. However, if the discard pile is frozen, you will still need a natural pair that matches the top card of the discard pile.

Q—Four people sat down to play Canasta and after three complete hands had been played it was discovered that there wasn't a single joker in the pack. Should those three hands be counted? Two said yes, and two said it isn't Canasta without jokers.

A—The three hands should be counted. This is a general principle of card games. Once a hand is completely played, it is too late to bring up the fact that the deck was deficient in some way. As a matter of fact, if the discovery were made while a hand was in progress, that hand would be continued and would be counted.

provided that each player had completed his first play.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Mail Fraudsters Guilty

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—A federal court jury has found two men and their corporation guilty of mail fraud in a fake $123,003 fund-raising scheme that spent only $7,349 for its beneficiaries, cancer sufferers. Found guilty on an 11-count indictment were Joseph L. Brandt, 52, and Sidney Greenberg, 45. They are each liable to a possible 55 years in prison and $11,000 fine. Their $5,000 bail was canceled by Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman pending sentencing Wednesday.

Two Killed in Crash

Milford, Conn., Oct. 27 (AP)—Two men were killed last night when a passenger car plowed into the rear of a truck standing on the Boston Post road here. The victims were John W. Nolan, 42, and Norman W. Bellman, 35, both of Milford. Policeman Robert Stickney said a truck operated by Peter B. De Formato, 37, Port Chester, N. Y., was standing in the highway, preparatory to turning left into a factory driveway.

Mail to Korea Early

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Post Office Department today issued an urgent call for those Korean Christmas mailings off next week. The department said that in view of a extremely heavy volume of mail moving into the Far East, it figured that Nov. 1 is the deadline for the mailings of Christmas parcels to American troops fighting in Korea, to assure delivery by Dec. 25.

A father and his son went for a ride in a trolley car. The boy seemed to be completely absorbed in the passing landscape and his father, feeling a little mischievous, lifted the boy's cap from his head and pretended to throw it out the window. The boy began to cry so his father, wistfully, and placed the cap back on his head. He made believe that he was able to bring back the cap merely by whistling for it.

The lad's tears evaporated and he grinned happily.

Boy—That's fun. Let's do it again. And he threw the cap out of the window.

The safest place to live after all is on a farm. There is always plenty to eat on a farm if those on it will work a little bit. People are going back to the land and more will go as it was from the land this country was first started and all we get is from the land. Smart folks are buying farms now when they are not so high in price and they figure on them greatly for the future.

Marciano Stops Joe Louis on TKO in Eighth Round

Maroon Piles Up 333 Yards Rushing To Score Fourth Victory of Season

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Joe Louis is through. Boxing has a new idol today in Rocky Marciano.

It's the old story of the ring. Youth must be served.

At 2:36 of the eighth round in Madison Square Garden last night, the old Brown Bomber was stretched on his back on the apron of the ring in a pathetic finish to one of the most fabulous stories in all sports.

Today 27-year-old Rocky, a one-time soldier, shoemaker, and ditch-digger with little more than three years of professional fighting behind him, was the toast of the town, the man of the hour. The big brass of the International Boxing Club will sit down today with Rocky, born Rocco Marchegiano on Sept. 1, 1924, and discuss future plans for the new young tiger of the ring.

He'll be offered a shot at Ezzard Charles, the ex-champion, for February or March and a possible title shot with Jersey Joe Walcott next summer.

Only Third Loss

For Louis' old man of the ring at 37½ years, it's the end of the long trail—a trail that began 17 years ago and brought him to the world's heavyweight championship and ring earnings of more than $4,500,000. Now the road turns in another direction.

It was only the third loss in Joe's 71-bout career and the second knockout. He was kayoed in by Max Schmeling in 1936. For his victory, Marciano collected his biggest payday, about $132,000. Rocky got 15 per cent of the gate and of the $185,000 radio-TV receipts. Louis got 45 per cent.

Joe said he'd wait until Monday to make a decision about his fighting future.

"I don't want to make a hasty decision," he said through puffed lips in his dressing room. He doesn't have to say it though. The crowd of 17,241 (gross gate $152,845) in the Garden and the 50,000,000 or more others who watched via a coast-to-coast telecast, know the answer.

Now the talk is all Rocky, the new woe of boxing, the hit of television. Thirty-eight fights, thirty-eight victories, 33 knockouts, almost a carbon copy of the string hung up by the once magnificent Brown Bomber.

Uses Louis Style

And Rocky tore a page out of Louis' book in writing finish to it. He belted the balding Joe with rights to the kidneys to take the drive out of his legs, he rushed him until the Bomber was befuddled and he finished him with the fury of the old Louis.

Leading on the scorecards of all three officials going into the eight round, the swarthy, 26-year-old Brockton (Mass.) better, tore out of his corner with the advice of trainer Charley Goldman ringing in his ears.

"Get him now."

He did. A scowl on his face, Rocky blazed after the tiring champ. A left hook flush to the jaw dropped Louis. At two, he was on one knee while he listened to Referee Ruby Goldstein's count. At eight he was up . . . but he was done.

Marciano stormed after him. A right to the head dazed the Bomber. He tottered back against the ropes and his hands fell to his sides. Then a crunching left hook to the chin and a right to the head and Joe started down.

As the fall began, Rocky ripped another left hook to the body and Louis went through the ropes and on to the apron of the ring on his back. It was the way the Brown Bomber of yesterday used to do it, too. But then while they're going and then they can't get up.

Goldstein took one look at the helpless champion and spared him a count. He waved his arms and it was all over.

Louis' comment on the big punch: "I saw the right hand coming, but I couldn't do anything about it. I was awfully tired. I'm too old I guess."

That big buildup for an aerial circus between Kingston High and Oneonta last night at municipal stadium turned out to be a huge hoax.

Eschewing the overhead game until the very last minute of play, the Maroon halfbacks tore the Oneonta line to shreds with a powerful running attack that built up a 27-0 halftime lead and an eventual 34 to 0 triumph.

It was Kingston's fourth win in six starts to date and completed the first phase of the 1951 season. The Yellow Jackets from the Otsego hills, meanwhile, suffered their fourth setback in five outings.

With Gene Massa spearheading the attack, Coach Burke's gridiron warriors tore up huge chunks of real estate, piling up 333 yards from scrimmage as they staged sustained drives of 37, 85, 66, 51 and 34 yards for their TDs.

Massa on Rampage

Massa, rapidly approaching real stardom, did everything but carry the water bucket last night. He whipped off a scintillating 55-yard jaunt down the sidelines on Kingston's 85-yard march late in the first period, scored twice—four out of five extra points. And averaged 37 yards on his punts.

Al Carpio, running better than any first punter scored two touchdowns—one a two-yard plunge and then again from the six. Don Jones, who some day will form a tremendous tandem with Massa, ripped off a 19-yard off tackle burst for Kingston's fifth score.

On the verge of complete humiliation the game was returned to the second half. They held Kingston at bay throughout the third period, while twice setting up big threats, and finally yielded a fifth touchdown in the fourth period, just before Coach Burke cleared the bench.

Score in Seven Plays

After Kingston kicked off, Oneonta failed to gain and the Jacks' first punt was returned to the Oneonta 37. Seven plays later, Massa slid off his left tackle to bolt over the goal line standing up to put Kingston ahead, 6-0, in the first seven minutes. Massa placed-kicked the extra point for 7-0.

A spectacular 44-yard gallop by Joe Perry, Oneonta's hard-working fullback, carried from the Oneonta 33 to the Kingston 23 on the first play from scrimmage after the next kickoff. But the attack bogged down on the 15 and Kingston took over.

Six plays later, Al Carpio slammed over from the two-yard stripe. The big play in the sequence was a thrilling 55-yard romp by Massa who cut across the field through the tackle and catwalked down the sidelines. A diving tackle by halfback Spence just tipped Gene's leg enough to throw him off stride on the Oneonta 30. Carpio bulled 18 yards more smashes after a two-yard thrust by Massa, who converted the extra point for a 14-0 lead.

Kingston's third TD drive actually covered 71 yards since they were set back five yards from the 34 for too much time in the huddle before they got off the first play. Flare, Massa and Manfro had a big hand in this deal, with Massa mowing 14 yards from the Oneonta 43. Manfro scatted back to the 15 for first down. A one-yard plunge by Flare and three cracks by Carpio did it.

Massa made a nice punt return to Kingston 49 late in the second period. This time it required six plays to set up Don Jones' nifty 19-yard sprint into the coffin corner from the 19. A pitchout to Ferraro was one of the key plays in the advance moving the ball from the Oneonta 37 to the 24.

Jackets Stage Rally

If anything, the Yellow Jackets actually outplayed Kingston in the third period. They hemmed the Maroons down near their goal line on two exchanges and then started a drive from their own 48. The Perry brothers—Lou and Joe—sparked a surge that ended tragically when Jim Ferraro intercepted a forward pass on the Kingston 9.

Later in the period Whitmarsh uncorked a 16-yard pass from Kingston's 33 to the 17. Whitmarsh was stopped for four-yard loss to the 21 but a 15-yard penalty for pushing set the Maroons back to their own 5. Oneonta's high hopes were dashed on the first play from scrimmage by a fumble.

John Barmann recovered an Oneonta fumble on the visitors' 34 midway in the fourth quarter and the Maroons proceeded to pick up yardage at an alarming rate. Pat Manfro went 13 on a beautifully-executed cutback. Jim Ferraro went to the 14 and Massa sprinted through left tackle to the goal line. He placed kicked his fourth extra point to conclude the scoring activities for the night.

Then the bench came in and Oneonta started a march that culminated on the Kingston 8 on a Whitmarsh to Matthews pass. The regulars came storming back and the Oneonta drive fizzled right on the eight.

With a minute remaining Kingston finally went to the forward pass. From midfield Ferraro hit Charlie Tiano on the Oneonta 28 but three subsequent attempts to hit Don Murphy and Tiano fizzled and the game ended with the ball on the Oneonta 28.

Joe Louis' Glorious Ring Saga Ends, Tear-Choked Followers Hope . . But??

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Tears flowed openly and unashamedly in Joe Louis' dressing room—but not from Joe.

There wasn't a dry eye—except those of the former great heavyweight champion. His were bright and clear.

Middleweight champion Ray Robinson sobbed softly. Ex-heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles blinked and blinked. Others in the sweaty room, some of them veteran newspapermen, had large lumps in their throats. The only lumps Louis had were on his cheeks and forehead.

They all realized it was the end of an era, Louis' glorious and history-making ring days were over. Everybody hated to see it end that way—Louis sprawled out, flat on his back on the ring apron, his legs tangled around the ropes.

Knocked out by Rocky Marciano, a rough, tough, hard-punching kid out of Brockton, Mass. Rocky was just a kid, who three years ago was digging ditches, working in a shoe factory, washing dishes—never dreaming that one day he would be fighting against the great Joe Louis, let alone knocking him out.

The Same Answer?

Secretly, however, those in the hot steam room listening to the balding, 37-year-old gladiator mumble replies last night to countless questions, were glad Joe had lost.

Maybe now, they reasoned, Louis would see the light. Maybe now, they hoped, Joe would realize he is but a shell of his former self. Maybe now he would decide once and for all to quit before he suffered serious injury.

"Please, Joe, quit," they were thinking. "Say it is so."

But Louis, his face bloated, his lips and nose puffed, his left hand swollen and in pain, his legs and body weary, would not say. Always truthful and to the point with his answer, Joe parried this question.

"I'd rather not say now," he muttered in a voice that was barely audible. "I'll let you know Monday in the IBC office."

"I don't want to make a hasty decision," he added. "I had an exhibition tour planned (to Tokyo and Korea). It all depends upon whether the people will still want me to go through with it."

"Maybe they won't want me now," he said as an afterthought.

Ex-Golden Glover Is Kayoed Twice

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—A 20-year-old former Golden Gloves heavyweight champ was arrested on a dope peddling charge last night as he left Madison Square Garden after losing a fight.

The boxer, Vincent (Jimmy) Gambino, was held in $10,000 bail after federal narcotics agents took him into custody.

A little while earlier, Gambino was knocked out in the sixth round of an eight-round preliminary bout by Ray Wilding, of Norwich, England. The main event was the Rocky Marciano-Joe Louis fight.

U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane said the boxer had been trailed Oct. 10 when he allegedly sold 55 grams of heroin to a federal undercover agent.

Lane said the sale ended in a

Wiltwyck Champs To Be Feted Monday

Wiltwyck Golf Club will fete its 1951 champions at the annual Champion's Dinner on Monday evening at Leherbs. Guest of honor will be Leon Randall, the Wiltwyck and city champion. Trophies will also be awarded to Bill Messing for the President's Club and Charles Microwitz, Seniors champion, and the various flight winners in the annual club competition.

Expect New Mark At Yonkers Raceway

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—It wouldn't be surprising if Yonkers Raceway has a new mile record tonight after the $10,000 Roaring Grand Pace.

Good Time from W. H. Cane's Good Time stable hung up the track standard of 2:02 2/5 last week when starting from the eight post position. Tonight he'll have the rail in the final Grand Circuit feature.

A victory would net Good Time $4,500 and boost his total earnings close to the $200,000 mark.

The smooth, striding five-year old is the 1 to 5 choice to whip Ankaway, Dr. Stanton, Ferman Hanover, Freddy Hawk and Hayes Hanover.

Hadley Hanover won "The Empire" $10,000 feature trot last night in 2:05 3/5. The winner, driven by Ben Turlington, paid $9.30, $7.90 and $5. Don Scott, an entry with Hadley Hanover, finished second and Lingo Direct third.

CYO Harrier Meet Set Sunday

The first annual CYO cross country meet will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the municipal stadium hill and dale course.

Competition will be in three classes, with trophies for all first place winners. The Kingston Patrolmen's Association is also offering a trophy for first place. The meet is open to all qualified entrants in Ulster county and is being staged in conjunction with the CYO Week program.

Marciano Stops Joe Louis on TKO in Eighth Round

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Joe Louis is through. Boxing has a new idol today in Rocky Marciano.

It's the old story of the ring. Youth must be served.

At 2:36 of the eighth round in Madison Square Garden last night, the old Brown Bomber was stretched on his back on the apron of the ring in a pathetic finish to one of the most fabulous stories in all sports.

Today 27-year old Rocky, a one-time soldier, shoemaker, and ditch-digger with little more than three years of professional fighting behind him, was the toast of the town, the man of the hour.

The big brass of the International Boxing Club will sit down

today with Rocky, born Rocco Marchegiano on Sept. 1, 1924, and discuss future plans for the new young tiger of the ring.

He'll be offered a shot at Ezzard Charles, the ex-champion, for February or March and a possible title shot with Jersey Joe Walcott next summer.

Only Third Loss

For Louis' old man of the ring at 37½ years, it's the end of the long trail—a trail that began 17 years ago and brought him to the world's heavyweight championship and ring earnings of more than $4,500,000. Now the road turns in another direction.

It was only the third loss in Joe's 71-bout career and the second knockout. He was kayoed in 12 by Max Schmeling in 1936. For his victory, Marciano collected his biggest payday, about $44,000. Louis received about $132,000. Rocky got 15 per cent of the net gate and of the $185,000 radio-TV receipts. Louis got 45 per cent.

Joe said he'd wait until Monday to make a decision about his fighting future.

"I don't want to make a hasty decision," he said through puffed lips in his dressing room.

He doesn't have to say it though. The crowd of 17,241 (gross gate $152,843) in the Garden and the 50,000,000 or more others who watched via a coast-to-coast telecast, know the answer.

Now the talk is all Rocky, the new wow of boxing, the hit of television. Thirty-eight fights, thirty-eight victories, 33 knockouts, almost a carbon copy of the string hung up by the once magnificent Brown Bomber.

Uses Louis Style

And Rocky tore a page out of Louis' book in writing finish to it.

He belted the balding Joe with rights to the kidneys to take the drive out of his legs, he rushed him until the Bomber was befuddled and he finished him with the fury of the old Louis.

Leading on the scorecards of all three officials going into the eighth round, the swarthy, 26-year old Brockton (Mass.) belter, tore out of his corner with the advice of trainer Charley Goldman ringing in his ears.

"Get him now."

He did. A scowl on his face, Rocky blazed after the tiring champ. A left hook flush to the jaw dropped Louis. At two, he was on one knee while he listened to Referee Ruby Goldstein's count. At eight he was up . . . but he was done.

Marciano stormed after him. A right to the head dazed the Bomber. He tottered back against the ropes and his hands fell to his sides. Then a crunching left hook to the chin and a right to the head and Joe started down.

As the fall began, Rocky ripped another left hook to the body and Louis went through the ropes and on to the apron of the ring on his back. It was the way the Brown Bomber of yesterday used to do it, too. Belt them while they're going and then they can't get up.

Goldstein took one look at the helpless champion and spared him a count. He waved his arms and it was all over.

Louis' comment on the big punch:

"I saw the right hand coming, but I couldn't do anything about it. I was awfully tired. I'm too old I guess."

Joe Louis' Glorious Ring Saga Ends, Tear-Choked Followers Hope . . But??

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Tears flowed openly and unashamedly in Joe Louis' dressing room—but not from Joe.

There wasn't a dry eye—except those of the former great heavyweight champion. His were bright and clear.

Middleweight champion Ray Robinson sobbed softly. Ex-heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles blinked and blinked. Others in the sweaty room, some of them veteran newspapermen, had large lumps in their throats. The only lumps Louis had were on his cheeks and forehead.

They all realized it was the end of an era. Louis' glorious and history-making ring days were over.

Everybody hated to see it end that way—Louis sprawled out, flat on his back on the ring apron, his legs tangled around the ropes—knocked out by Rocky Marciano, a rough, tough, hard-punching kid out of Brockton, Mass.

Rocky was just a kid, who three years ago was digging ditches, working in a shoe factory, washing dishes—never dreaming that one day he would be fighting against the great Joe Louis, let alone knocking him out.

The Same Answer?

Secretly, however, those in the hot steam room listening to the bawling, 37-year-old gladiator mumble replies last night to countless questions, were glad Joe had lost.

Maybe now, they reasoned, Louis would see the light. Maybe now, they hoped, Joe would realize he is but a shell of his former self. Maybe now he would decide once and for all to quit before he suffered serious injury.

"Please, Joe, quit," they were thinking. "Say it is so."

But Louis, his face bloated, his lips and nose puffed, his left hand swollen and in pain, his legs and body weary, would not say. Always truthful and to the point with his answer, Joe parried this question.

"I'd rather not say now," he muttered in a voice that was barely audible. "I'll let you know Monday in the IBC office."

"I don't want to make a hasty decision," he added. "I had an exhibition tour planned (to Tokyo and Korea). It all depends upon whether the people will still want me to go through with it."

"Maybe they won't want me now," he said as an afterthought.

Ex-Golden Glover Is Kayoed Twice

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—A 20-year-old former Golden Gloves heavyweight champ was arrested on a dope peddling charge last night as he left Madison Square Garden after losing a fight.

The boxer, Vincent (Jimmy) Gambino, was held in $10,000 bail after federal narcotics agents took him into custody.

A little while earlier, Gambino was knocked out in the sixth round of an eight-round preliminary bout by Ray Wilding, of Norwich, England. The main event was the Rocky Marciano-Joe Louis fight.

U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane said the boxer had been trailed Oct. 10 when he allegedly sold 55 grams of heroin to a federal undercover agent.

Further hearing was set for Nov. 2.

Gambino had won all ten of his professional fights before last night.

No Shoes for Willie

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—The winning streak of jockey Willie Shoemaker, who had ridden 29 winners in the 12 previous racing days, was snapped at Jamaica Race Track yesterday. The best Wee Willie could do was a third with five mounts. It was the first time he has been blanked since Oct. 11.

Hollywood, Calif.—Willie Bean, 210, Los Angeles, and Frank Buford, 215, Oakland, Calif., drew, 10.

Houghtaling's 572 Tops Male Pinmen

Herb Houghtaling clicked for the highest triple in the Friday night bowling—572—while members of the Everybody's League accounted for three new seasonal records.

A 248 solo by R. "Chick" Lawrence set a new individual high, while the 961 by Central Recs and 2721 by Ma's Root Beer are new team standards.

George Robinson and Charlie Gildersleeve paced the Ferraro Classic with 571; Tony LaRocca posted 561 in the Electro and Vince Nobl eshot 562 in the Hercules.

Houghtaling compiled a three-game string of 204-170-198-572; Robinson 171-177-223; LaRocca 175-216-170; and Noble had 162-199-201. Gildersleeve poked 182-210-179.

Runner-up to Houghtaling was J. Bruno with 563. Lawrence poked 248-558; F. Francello 211-550; Roy Houghtaling 546; J. Casciaro 200-545; W. Lawrence 210-543; T. Greco 203-543; Ken Powell 202-536; H. Budd 531; T. Spada 522; M. Amato and E. Haynes 521.

C. Robinson Has 568

Chris Robinson rolled 200-212-568 in the Ferraro Classic. Bud Greenberg 212-561; F. Kuhnle 206-560; W. Murray 222-557; W. Lawrence 205-544; Fred Ferraro 204-551; and Buster Ferraro 221-536.

R. Alward hit for 213-557 in the Electro; E. Christiana 219-552; P. Jordan 201-545; T. Parker 209-539; Ed Ashdown 202-532; J. Hulstair 530; Ben Toffel 202-523; Bob East 521; Paul Khedrian 513; D. Vanderlyn 504. John Thompson whacked 550; Bill Mohr 543 and Joe Dulin 526 in the Hercules circuit.

NFA Trips Port, 18-0

Newburgh Free Academy romped over Port Jervis, 18-0, last night at Glenside Field in the tri-state city to tie Poughkeepsie for the DUSO Football League leadership.

The Goldbacks scored twice in the second period and racked up their third TD in the fourth quarter.

Sam Leghorn scored twice—on a 2-yard plunge and 16-yard sweep—and the Goldbacks picked up their final marker on a 37-yard pass play from Bob Spreer to Leghorn.

Newburgh had eight first downs and picked up 211 yards from scrimmage. The Red and Black collected seven first downs and 83 yards on the ground.

The DUSO state pairs Poughkeepsie and Middletown today in the Middle city.

Key contests are scheduled Nov. 10 when Kingston visits Port Jervis and Poughkeepsie and Newburgh meet in their climactic clash in Newburgh.

U. S. Horse Team Scores in Penns

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—The United States receives one of the Pennsylvania National horse show's two highest awards tonight but faces stiff competition in its attempt for the other trophy.

The new U. S. team will be presented with the President's Trophy—symbolic of low-score supremacy in international jumping—just before it competes for the International Challenge Trophy at the week-long show's finale.

The Americans clinched the low-score competition yesterday for the second straight year as they won the third and final event of the three-day competition. The U. S. had an aggregate score of 24½ faults for the three events to runner-up Canada's 36 and Ireland's 41½.

Brazil had a total of 79½ while Mexico withdrew after collecting 97 faults in the first two jumps.

Tonight's final jump for the challenge trophy is considered almost equal in value to the low-score title. The course consists of 10 five-foot hurdles—one of the toughest layouts of indoor jumping.

Mexico has won two of the three previous challenge trophy jumps in the past years with Ireland taking third.

A victory would net Good Time $4,500 and boost his total earnings close to the $200,000 mark.

The smooth striding five-year old is the 1 to 5 choice to whip Ankwary, Dr. Stanton, Ferman Hanover, Freddy Hawk and Hayes Hanover.

Hadley Hanover won "The Empire" $10,000 feature trot last night in 2:05 3/5. The winner, driven by Ben Turlington, paid $9.30, $7.90 and $5. Don Scott, an entry with Hadley Hanover, finished second and Lingo Direct third.

Expect New Mark At Yonkers Raceway

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—It wouldn't be surprising if Yonkers Raceway has a new mile record tonight after the $10,000 Roaring Grand Pace.

Good Time from W. H. Cane's Good Time stable hung up the track standard of 2:02 2/5 last week when starting from the eighth post position. Tonight he'll have the rail in the final Grand Circuit feature.

Pretty much of a realist in his football thinking, Coach Bill Burke generally steers away from the psychological buildup and the halftime tirade. Circumstances surrounding the Thanksgiving Day contest against Newburgh being what they are, Bill is afforded a real chance to play amateur psychologist with his charges. If he so desires.

If Kingston gets by Port Jervis on Nov. 10, well, you can write your own ticket on the importance of the Turkey Day traditional.

At the moment, however, Burke is deeply concerned with the Nov. 10 clash at Glenside Field.

"Port Jervis is tougher than it looks on paper," he says. "I saw them run through Poughkeepsie like a dose of salts for their first touchdown. Then, for some mysterious reason they stopped cold. But they'll not be easy on Nov. 10."

The psychological class must be postponed a few weeks, it seems.

The exhibition is open to the public with 1300 seats available. . . . Shields, the hard-hitting Ontario sports editor, says the football system up there is hobbled by eligibility rules. Junior high starts in the 7th grade. Boys may play a low grade of jayvee ball if they want to, but there is nothing previous. As a result, the coach gets green sophomores and juniors who have had a season of questionable junior varsity work. You can't build high school football empires that way.

Suggestion Department: Why not try playing the annual Thanksgiving Day battle between Kingston and Newburgh at 10 o'clock in the morning. It's worth a try. Morning football is a standard fixture in New Jersey and New England areas. The game would be over in plenty of time to get everybody home in time for the turkey carving.

Hickman's Amateur Hour in the Bowl:

Tom Horton, Bob Herzog, Bud Rodie and assorted Old Elms of Kingston won't believe it, but it's true.

Up to this writing, Yale has won only one game—that against little Bates—in its first five starts, and the wolves began to howl for about Herman Hickman's scalp.

Old grads urge the Falstaffian character from the Great Smokies to give up his outside activities and concentrate on football.

"Herman is a busy man these days," chided one. "Before his Celebrity Time television show Sunday nights, he conducts his amateur hour in the Yale Bowl on Saturday afternoon."

Another Old Blue was walking across the campus toward the Gothic spire of Harkness Tower and the colorful cupola of Bradford College.

"Buildings," he mused, "buildings!" Have we sold our athletic birthright for a mess of architectural potage?

Even at staid old Yale, the fans don't exactly like the idea of academic deans giving football the University of Chicago treatment.

But that's what they get for giving football back to the boys.

Here's an old chestnut about the hunter and squirrel and, if any local nimrod can furnish the correct answer, we'd like to hear from them. That includes George Flemings, Emerson Mayes and Nick LaLima, the "deadly trio."

A hunter sees a squirrel on the trunk of a tree and tries to shoot it. As fast as he moves around, the squirrel moves also, and always keeps the tree between himself and the hunter. The hunter walked around the tree. Did he shoot the squirrel?

The first nimrod submitting the correct answer will receive two free ducats to the pigeon races.

Groza and Beard Released on Bail

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Ralph Beard, Alex Groza and Dale Barnstable, former University of Kentucky basketball stars, are free on bail today after pleading innocent on charges of fixing a 1949 tournament game.

The three unfranked players were indicted yesterday on charges of fixing the March 14, 1949 game against Loyola of Chicago. They were also charged with conspiracy covering Kentucky's 1948-49 schedule.

The players pleaded innocent and were released on $1,000 bail each. Five alleged fixers also were indicted and released on bail ranging from $2,500 to $10,000.

Groza, Beard and Barnstable are specifically charged with shaving points in the National Invitational Tournament game against Loyola in Madison Square Garden. Loyola scored an upset, 67-56 victory that snapped the Wildcats' 21-game victory streak.

Groza allegedly received $1,000 and Barnstable and Beard $500 each for shaving the point spread. Kentucky was a 10 to 12 point favorite.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor said the players also admitted receiving $100 each for three games they won by the point spread.

The three games were: Notre Dame, Jan. 29, 1949; Bowling Green, Jan. 11, 1949; Bradley, Feb. 5, 1949; Xavier (Cincinnati), Feb. 25, 1949; and two Sugar Bowl games at New Orleans, Dec. 29 and 30, 1948 against Tulane and St. Louis respectively.

but the players would not admit to any deals.

The six games, which involved going over the point spread instead of shaving it were: Notre Dame, Jan. 29, 1949; Bowling Green, Jan. 11, 1949; Bradley, Feb. 5, 1949; Xavier (Cincinnati), Feb. 25, 1949; and two Sugar Bowl games at New Orleans, Dec. 29 and 30, 1948 against Tulane and St. Louis respectively.

Maroon Piles Up 333 Yards Rushing To Score Fourth Victory of Season

That big buildup for an aerial circus between Kingston High and Oneonta last night at municipal stadium turned out to be a huge hoax.

Eschewing the overhead game until the very last minute of play, the Maroon halfbacks tore the Oneonta line to shreds with a powerful running attack that built up a 27-0 halftime lead and an eventual 34 to 0 triumph.

It was Kingston's fourth win in six starts to date and completed the first phase of the 1951 season. The Yellow Jackets from the Otsego hills, meanwhile, suffered their fourth setback in five outings.

With Gene Massa spearheading the attack, Coach Burke's grid-iron warriors tore up huge chunks of real estate, piling up 333 yards from scrimmage as they staged sustained drives of 37, 85, 66, 51 and 34 yards for their TDs.

Massa on Rampage

Massa, rapidly approaching real stardom, did everything but carry the water bucket last night. He whipped out a scintillating 55-yard jaunt down the sidelines on Kingston's 85-yard march late in the first period, scored twice—from 12 yards and 19—and kicked four out of five extra points. And averaged 37 yards on his punts.

Al Carpio, running better than any time this season, scored two touchdowns—one two-yard plunge and then again from the six. Don Jones, who some day will form a tremendous tandem with Massa, ripped off a 19-yard off tackle burst for Kingston's fifth score.

On the verge of complete humiliation the game but out-clashed Yellow Jackets stiffened in the second half. They held Kingston at bay throughout the third period, while twice setting up big threats, and finally yielded a fifth touchdown in the fourth period, just before Coach Burke cleared the bench.

Memorial
In memory of our loved one, John A. Heaney, who passed away 2 years ago today, 1949. Always in our hearts.

WIFE, DAUGHTER & SON

MEMORIAL
In sad and loving memory of our dear son and brother, T-5 Stanley J. Dudley, who was killed in Holland, Oct. 27, 1944.

We do not need a special day. To bring you to our mind. The day we do not think of you. Is very hard to find. It's said time heals all sorrows. And helps us to forget.

But so far time has always proved. How much we loved him dearly. In life we loved him very. In death we do the same.

Signed,
MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

Mrs. Rene R. Davis
Mrs. Rene Rudolph Davis of Rosendale died suddenly early Friday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Hearn at Nassau. Mrs. Davis was the widow of Jesse Davis who conducted a cider mill in Tillson until his death several years ago. She was born in Vatterbury, Conn., the daughter of the late George and Hannah Meagher Rudolph. She had been a resident of Rosendale for many years. Her only survivor is her daughter, Mrs. Hearn. Funeral services and burial will be private. Friends may call at the late residence, Sand Hill, Rosendale, tonight and Sunday night.

William F. Trinkle
William F. Trinkle, a lifelong resident of Port Ewen, died at that place Friday afternoon following a protracted illness. For many years he was employed by the C. Hiltibrant Dry Dock Company as a ship carpenter. He also was a member of the Port Ewen Fire Department. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Raymond Horvers of Port Ewen and Mrs. Albert Malkemus of Poughkeepsie; two sons, William P. and George J. Trinkle, Port Ewen; three sisters, Mrs. John Thurston, Mrs. Vernon Story and Mrs. Joseph Creighton, all of Poughkeepsie; and two brothers, Joseph of Port Ewen and Edward of Kingston; and six grandchildren. The funeral will be held Monday at 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, and at the Church of the Presentation, 9:30 a. m., where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary M. Gaynor
Funeral services for Mrs. Mary M. Gaynor were held today at 8:30 a. m. from the Jensen & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, and at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of the church. Present at the services were many relatives and friends from all parts of the city to pay their tribute to her memory. During the Mass at the cemetery the children's choir sang Pie Jesu Dominie and following the last blessing they sang out of the Depths. Friday at 8 p. m. Msgr. Connelly and the Rev. James Keating called at the chapel and recited the Holy Rosary for the repose of her soul. Beautiful floral tributes and many Mass cards testified to the high esteem in which she was held. Bearers were Dennis Fennelly, Ray Adams, James Howard, Daniel McCormick, Harold Sanford and William Winslow. Burial took place in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Keating gave the final absolution at the grave.

Mrs. Rose F. Schaff
Mrs. Rose Fredenburgh Schaff, widow of Fred Schaff, Sr., formerly of the New Paltz area, died Friday at Whitney Point. Mrs. Schaff is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Macleary, Saunders, Mrs. Maurice Rye, Mahonk Lake; Miss Helen Schaff, Saugerties; five sons, Frank, Hudson; Marvin, Fred of Whitney Point; Edward, Binghamton; and William, Yonkers; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Craig, Tillson; and Mrs. Claudia La Murynon, Newburgh; and a brother, Harvey Fredenburgh, Peru. Several nieces, nephews and grandchildren also survive. Funeral services will be held at the Baptist Church in Triangle, near Binghamton, Sunday at 2 p. m. Another service will be held at the home of Mrs. Schaff's daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Macleary, 100 Livingston street, Saugerties, where the body may be seen Sunday night. The funeral will be held Monday at 1 p. m. The Rev. Lester Linderman of Triangle will officiate. Burial will be in the Rosendale Plains Cemetery. Arrangements are under the direction of W. Nichols and Son of Whitney Point.

Case Is Adjudged
Harold Greenburg, 44, of West Hurley, pleaded innocent to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was granted an adjournment until Nov. 17 by City Judge Raymond Mino this morning. Greenburg, who was arrested Friday afternoon by police, was represented by Attorney Charles Gaffney.

Longer Hours Are Set by Recruiters

The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station will now be open six days a week, effective Monday, Oct. 29, instead of five days as heretofore, according to Master Sergeant Alva H. McGinnis, station commander. "The all-out efforts to procure sufficient men to maintain our army and air force at a necessary level, with volunteers rather than by involuntary selection is a fact and since this area is not producing its share from a five day week, we'll try six days," Sgt. McGinnis said. Sgt. McGinnis also pointed out that the Department of Defense has now made it possible for former enlisted men who served in World War 2, in one of the upper grades, master sergeant, technical sergeant and staff sergeant, in the army or air force to enlist in the Regular Army or the United States Air Force in a grade equivalent to the grade held at time of discharge. Prior military experience and civilian experience since discharge have a definite bearing in determining enlistment grades. Prior service personnel are urged to contact the recruiting station during any of its new hours which are as follows:

Monday through Saturdays, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.
"If you cannot contact the recruiting office during these hours," Sgt. McGinnis said, "you can drop us a card and either Sgt. Ingersoll or I will call on you at your home at your own time. The important thing is let's get back in."

Ike's Backers Look

making headquarters recently in Tuckers the center of their national activity. Eisenhower, a native of Texas, calls Abilene, Kan., "home."

Eastern headquarters are expected to be opened here within a few days, followed by the setting up of regional offices in other areas.

Plan Against Taft
The Eisenhower supporters hope thus to have campaigners working in every section of the country to counter the drive for GOP convention delegates now being made by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Taft, not letting any political grass grow under his feet, has speeches scheduled next week in Knoxville, Tenn., Providence, R. I., and Chicago.

The following week he will embark on a five-state tour, with talks scheduled in Birmingham, Ala., Biloxi, Miss., New Orleans, La., Liberty, Mo., Kansas City, and Enid, Tulsa and Oklahoma City in Oklahoma.

While Scott and others continue to maintain they have no doubts that Eisenhower will become available for the Republican nomination, Senator Duff (R-Pa.) may journey to the general's Paris headquarters soon to see if he can't get a little more light on the situation.

Duff may be accompanied by Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, an Eisenhower rooster, as well as by one or two other members of the group which is backing the general.

Truce . . .

target—a rail bridge at Sinanju. The 1,930-foot span is a key link in the Red's north-south supply route. It was cut in five places 11 days ago but the Communists already had put it back in operation.

Results of the strike were not announced.

The bombers were escorted by F-86 Sabre jets, F-84 Thunderjets and Australian piloted Meteors.

The 64 Thunderjets in the attack reported they damaged six enemy planes. The 32 Sabre jets claimed one damaged. The 16 Meteors accounted for the other damaged MIG.

During the night two Communist battalion size attacks were stopped northwest of Yanguu on the eastern front, the Eighth Army communique said.

One patrol raided Kumsong while a UN force secured what the Eighth Army called a key high mass southeast of the rubble city. Allied forces lost two tanks and had three damaged at Kumsong Friday when the force was hit by heavy mortar fire, mines and Bangalore torpedoes.

the Newkirk administration and Mr. McAndrew has suddenly developed interest in it only ten days before election. If his interest was real and deep, it would have been manifested long before this late date.

Jewry House Dedicated
New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Union House of Living Judaism—new, $1,000,000 headquarters of the reform wing of American Jewry—was dedicated last night.

The seven-story, Fifth avenue structure houses the union of American Hebrew congregations, organization of 440 reform congregations throughout the nation. National headquarters had been in Cincinnati for 78 years.

Missing Hounds Back

A sheriff's office investigation of the reported loss of two valued beagle hounds was closed yesterday when the owner, Arthur L. Haber of New Salem reported that the dogs were returned to him Thursday night. The pair, valued at a total of $150, had been missing since last Sunday.

Churchill Loses

ment of Britain after precisely six years and three months of socialism.

During those years since he was cast from the postwar leadership of the country, Churchill has maintained a "shadow cabinet" of men ready to take over high ministerial posts should the Conservatives return to power.

They included Eden, publisher and mid-eastern expert Harold MacMillan, Churchill's son-in-law Duncan Sandys, was crimes prosecutor Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, merchant and wartime food minister Lord Woolton, former cabinet minister Lord Salisbury, and Lord Ismay, who was chief-of-staff to Churchill when the latter convinced the Ministry of Defense with the prime minister's job during the war.

Known Obstacles
Churchill became the king's first minister fully aware of the towering obstacles confronting his administration.

"There lies before us a difficult time, a hard time," he said in his first post-election statement.

"But I do not doubt we shall win through because we shall use not only party forces but that growing sense of the need to put Britain back in her place."

Moreover, Churchill's party came to power with fewer votes than were polled by the defeated Socialists. Virtually complete totals gave:

Conservatives 13,655,595.
Labor 13,877,922.

The Socialists got more votes than any party in Britain ever received and still stood as Britain's major party.

Conservatives won by capturing more seats, getting many of them on a narrow edge while the Laborites were compiling uselessly huge totals from mine and factory areas.

Slim Majority Target

Churchill's slim majority in the House was an inviting target for renewed Tory-Labor sharpshooting.

With 620 seats decided, Churchill's party held an overall edge of 18 seats in the House of Commons. That was slightly better than the six to eight majority with which Attlee retained power for 20 months.

But the Conservatives have never before matched the strict Socialist discipline for attending House sessions and facing the voting line. The Socialists could well declare a war of attrition timed to wear down the Conservatives, whose regime would fall if beaten in the House on a major issue.

Churchill himself set such an example to wear down the Tories. He kept the House late at night to vote on technical issues, and forced snap votes on major policies. Many a night sick Laborites came on crutches and even in ambulances to save the government from a beating on a critical ballot.

The effect of his slim control of the House may have on Churchill's attempts to revise the pattern of Socialist legislation affecting business and industry presented the aged statesman with a set of difficulties matching those of the government he displaced.

Along with domestic problems, Churchill's government will have to an array of unsolved foreign issues. They included Iran's oil, Egypt's claims on the vital Suez Canal, strained relations with the Soviet Union, and establishing closer relations with the United States.

Many political observers in London expect one of his first acts to be a flight to Washington to review policies of the English speaking nations.

Changes in the pattern of domestic economy and modifying the economic actions of the Socialist government are expected to be put forward more slowly.

County Vols . . .

supervised operations from police headquarters in the city hall.

Schenectady's fire fighting apparatus was put out of commission early this morning by a hypothetical A-bomb. Aid was dispatched from nine New York state counties, as well as from Massachusetts.

Mutual aid headquarters in Kingston was given the "red" signal about 6:30 a. m. today. Calls to the outlying companies to participate in the test were spaced between 7 and 8 a. m. to give each company sufficient notice to be at the rendezvous point by 8:30 a. m.

Police Give Escort
Police escorts were arranged to take fire equipment through Kingston city streets.

In all, 100 pieces of fire apparatus were scheduled to converge upon the "target area."

Coverage of Ulster county districts from which equipment was taken for the test was also arranged at Mutual Aid headquarters. Napanoch Fire Department covered Ellenville, Kingston covered Ulster Hose territory, Poughkeepsie covered Highland, Port Ewen covered Esopus and Tillson covered New Paltz.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—The huge Schenectady plant of the General Electric Company, a major factor in the nation's defense effort, was theoretically wiped out today in a mock atomic-bomb raid.

The "bomb," described as having the power of 25,000 tons of TNT, was dropped over the G-E plant about one mile west of the General Electric Company, a major factor in the nation's defense effort, was theoretically wiped out today in a mock atomic-bomb raid.

The test was described as the first in the state involving three major cities.

As civil defense workers went into action, motorists were ordered to halt. Compliance was described as "good," but observers said many motorists failed to lie on the floors of their cars as they were supposed to do.

Candidates on Republican Ticket

BENJAMIN A. STORMS

Benjamin A. Storms is the Republican candidate for Alderman of the Second Ward. He is completing his first term in the Common Council and his forthright leadership in that body has won the recognition of his fellow members of that group.

Storms lives at 232 Smith avenue with his wife and two children. He is active in the affairs of his ward and knows the needs of the residents of the Ward.

He was the recipient of a battlefield commission in the Corps of Engineers in World War 2. He is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and several Rod & Gun Clubs. He has been active as a member of the Industrial Management Club of Kingston.

The Republican candidate has been employed by the Hercules Powder Company for 14 years.

Storms' re-election as Alderman of the Second Ward will assure the residents of the Ward of alert and capable representation in that body.

JOSEPH F. WENZEL

The Republican candidate for alderman of the Fourth Ward is Joseph F. Wenzel who has been a lifelong resident of the ward and makes his home at 122 Hasbrouck avenue with his wife and two children.

19 Years Experience

CHARLES J. MESSINGER

Charles J. Messenger of 59 Andrew street, who is seeking re-election for a third term as supervisor of the Ninth Ward, is a well known citizen of our city. For some 33 years he worked as a special police officer in the Rondout section of our city and at the present time is employed as a guard by the Kingston Savings Bank.

Mr. Messenger has shown a deep interest in local government for many years and served for 10 years as Republican committeeman in the Ninth Ward, which furthered his acquaintanceship among the people in the ward and increased his knowledge of ward problems. Since his election to the Board of Supervisors in 1947, he has been diligent in his attendance at board meetings, and has missed only one meeting, which occurred at a time that he was ill.

He is chairman of the committee on "commissioners of election" of the board and a member of the "Youth Guidance" committee. He also served as chairman on county auditor and purchasing agent and on the committee on grade crossings.

Mr. Messenger has shown a friendly interest in all the people of the ward and has always been available and helpful to all his constituents. His re-election will insure faithful, reliable and competent representation of the Ninth Ward in the Board of Supervisors.

Another Bank Fraud

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—FBI agents held the 14th person today on embezzlement charges which cover more than $3,030,000 in the past 13 months. The latest arrested is Paul J. Straifitt, 52-year-old cashier and director of the First National Bank of Indiana (Pa.). He is charged by the FBI with embezzling $30,256 in bank funds. The arrest by the Pittsburgh office of the FBI last night is the 12th embezzlement case uncovered in Pittsburgh and West Virginia district.

40 & 8 Driver Held

Richmond, Va., Oct. 27 (AP)—John C. Baughan, 67, of Richmond, was struck and killed here yesterday by a specially-built American Legion vehicle in the form of a locomotive. The vehicle, driven by Wessell R. Wickham, 64, of Mattituck, N. Y., was returning from the Legion convention in Miami, Fla. It is owned by the Society of the Forty-and-Eight, Amityville, N. Y. Wickham was arrested on a charge of involuntary manslaughter and his bond was set at $2,000.

Sentenced for Rape

Mineola, Oct. 27 (AP)—The son of the Malverne police chief has been sentenced to a five to 10 year prison term at Sing Sing for attempted rape. James Ackley, Jr., 26, had been indicted on charges of rape, second-degree assault, and third-degree burglary. Nassau County Judge Collins permitted him to plead guilty last week to the lesser charge of attempted rape. He was accused of breaking into the Franklin Square home of Mrs. Beatrice Salveson, 26-year-old mother of two, and last July 27 attacking her.
